Grand jury, gangster-style slaying linked?

A Collinsville bartender who was slain in a gangland-style shooting in Missouri early this week was a witness this summer before a federal grand jury which at that time was investigating alleged corruption in connection with prostitution and other racketeering activities in Madison and Madison County, according to information obtained by the Press-Record.

Don Ellington, 47, who was known among associates in the Collinsville and St. Louis areas as "The Bear," was shot three times in the head in his car on a lonely Missouri side-road near Festus, Mo., Sunday night.

Authorities have fixed the time of the shooting at about 8:30 p.m., an hour and a half after Ellington had left his rural Collinsville home, telling his wife he was going to a meeting.

As investigators of the Greater St. Louis

Major Case Squad intensified their search for a motive in the Ellington slaying, another shooting victim identified as Dennis McIntosh, 26, of the 2700 block of Arlington Avenue in State Park Place, was admitted early Tuesday morning to Memorial Hospital, Belleville, suffering a bullet wound in the stomach. His condition was reported as serious.

Members of the Major Case Squad met in Belleville Wednesday afternoon with agents of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation and the St. Clair County sheriff's department to determine if the two shootings may be linked to a fight between factions for control of prostitution in the State Park Place and Collinsville Road areas.

Ellington was described by Sheriff Walter "Buck" Burger of Jefferson County, Mo., where his slaying occurred, as a "known police character" with a long police record.

He was subpoenaed to appear earlier this year before the federal grand jury that later indicted two former Madison policemen and one suspended Madison officer who since have been convicted on racketeering and perjury charges. Ellington was present regularly as a spectator during the Madisonians' trial at Alton in June and July 1978.

Ellington, who had been employed as a bartender at the Cahokia Downs Race Track for the past eight years by Sports Service of Buffalo, N.Y., was carrying a pipefitter's union card in his wallet, along with evidence of his race track employment when his body was found, Sheriff Burger said. He was business agent of East St. Louis Bartenders Union 322.

Residents in the area of Missouri Highway 77 near the junction of Interstate 55 and U.S. Route 61 five miles south of Festus, Mo., called Burger's office Sunday night and reported hearing shots. Deputies found Ellington's car with the 300-pound bartender slumped over the wheel. He had been shot with a .38 caliber pistol, Burger said.

As officers arrived, Ellington's car, a 1974 Cadillac, began burning. Authorities said they believed that when the man was shot and his body slumped, a leg jammed the accelerator, racing the motor and causing it to overheat. Ellington's body was not burned.

Witnesses living in the area reported that after hearing shots, they went to the scene and saw a second car race away, but Burger said his deputies were unable to get a good description of it.

Major Robert Lowery of Florissant, Mo., who is heading the Major Case Squad investigation into the Ellington slaying, said there appears to be a connection between the Ellington and McIntosh shootings.

It is a possibility that this (McIntosh) shooting was in retaliation for the Ellington shooting, Lowery said. Investigators said McIntosh, who was

Mental health program cutback

Held to the lowest percentage budget increase of any agency in Madison County, the Mental Health Clinic Quad-City Center decided Tuesday night to reduce its services in line with the financial squeeze.

The cutback is being necessitated by funding decisions of the Madison County Mental Health Board (Law 708), officials at the local center said. It operates counseling clinics in Granite City, Edwardsville and Highland.

The center at 924 State St. will be the scene of a public open house from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Quad-City Center had a $162,000 allocation from the 708 Board for the December 1977-November 1978 year and sought $205,449 for December 1978-November 1979, including proposed expansion of services.

"The 708 Board has voted to increase the county allocation to the Quad-City Center by only $5,000, to $167,000," a local spokesman said. "This 3.2 percent increase won't cover the inflated cost of doing business in 1979."

"The 167,000 allocated will necessitate a reduction in service levels."

Pontoon property tax recommended

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

A consultant studying ways in which Pontoon Beach can improve its future outlook in terms of growth, financial stability and improved recordkeeping is recommending that the village board of trustees seriously consider imposing additional taxes and going into debt.

The David Davis Associates of St. Louis, hired by the board to coordinate future plans for the village, has released the first phase of its report which recommends the village stop operating on a "day-to-day" basis with the money available and consider imposing taxes to assure orderly growth.

Village operations currently are supported only by sales taxes and utility taxes.

It also recommends the village consider going into intentional debt, up to a limit of $525,000, to show its financial need for federal grants. The Davis report notes that some federal grants are available only to village and municipalities which are in debt.

"We highly recommend that, if the trustees want Pontoon Beach to undergo some 'facelifting' and achieve some orderly growth, it incur some debts to allow for planned corporate improvements," the report indicates.

It recommends that only taxes which can be imposed without a referendum should be considered, due to the difficulty in getting voters to approve additional taxes.

Critical that village officials have not planned financially for growth in the village, the report notes, "The review of the basic income of the village shows that it has primarily operated on the basis of a year-to-year estimated income, and, based on that estimate, figured what it could and would spend."

The report shows the complete absence of "planned base" income. No one has ever planned ways to increase that income which the village can always count on, nor has anyone ever planned to broaden the regular income by adding new revenue sources," according to the Davis report.

It suggests the income base needed should be "calculated by determining what services the people of the village will want, plus what the trustees of the village determine to be the future needs of the village. These citizen and village needs, often the same, are then, if needed, tapered down to how much revenue can reasonably be expected to be levied."

Property taxes are suggested since the tax "is stable and easy to predict and appears to be a fair way of distributing a municipality's services. Of course, there are some disadvantages, such as restrictions upon the use of funds and the necessity, in many cases, of referendums."

"The latter restriction has given municipalities such problems that, in most cases, we do not recommend levying any tax that requires a referendum. We might point out that, in some cases, costs

Only 2 lanes for overpass

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City is awaiting a final okay by the Federal Highway Administration of a proposal to cut back the proposed downtown overpass from a four-lane to a two-lane roadway, City Council members were told by Mayor Paul Schuler Tuesday night.

The revision in plan is expected to reduce by $2.6 million the estimated cost of building the structure, fixed earlier at more than $7 million, and thereby cut to $1.3 million the amount of money still needed by the city to complete the overpass financing, the mayor said.

He noted that the revision of design plans to a two-lane highway should enable the city to call bids for construction work in March or April next year.

Actually, the mayor said in response to a request by an alderman for an update in the status of the overpass planning, the suggestion for a two-lane highway was not the city's idea, but was suggested by Illinois and federal transportation officials who approached the city in the matter.

"They came to us," the mayor said, "with the suggestion that traffic studies made in the overpass approach area in 1977 failed to support anticipated traffic growth projections made on the basis of 1971 and 1972 traffic studies on which the original planning for the overpass was projected."

Mayor Schuler at the same time disclosed that an application for a Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) to finance the remaining $1.3 million of the two-lane construction cost along with

Newsmakers Straight ticket urged

"Vote the straight Democratic ticket" was the appeal voiced by several speakers at a campaign fund rally honoring Sam W. Wolf on Monday evening.

Charlie's Restaurant was filled with a $15-a-ticket crowd backing the former state representative's campaign to return to the Illinois House.

Vehement criticism was voiced against Rep. Joe E. Lucio without naming him. Repeatedly, speakers described the primary loser's independent candidacy as an attempt to "tear down the Democratic Party" in each township, city and district.

Wolf and Rep. Jim McPike won the Democratic primary. Wolf edged out Rep. Lucio. Rep. Everett Steele is the lone Republican candidate. Three of the four will be elected Nov. 7, and any of the four could lose, depending on who is doing the predicting.

McPike is generally expected to lead the balloting, and both he and Wolf were present Monday night urging straight-ticket voting, under which each of them receives a vote and a half.

It also is possible for voters to back an individual with three votes, or to support three candidates with one vote each for House seats.

State Senator Sam Vadalabene was particularly vocal Monday night in depicting the independent ticket as disloyal to the concept of party autonomy and authority.

Al H. Froemling presided as Wolf campaign finance chairman and spoke briefly, recalling their quarter-century of friendship.

Mayors, county officials and candidates were introduced by Wolf who also presented members of his family. Congressman Melvin Price praised Wolf and the Democratic ticket, and voiced thanks for the intensive vote support he

Theft charged

Cory Judisack, 18, of 2159 Benton St., was charged with theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor after an incident last week in which he and a 14-year-old girl allegedly were seen near where gasoline had been stolen from two church buses at Mount Zion General Baptist Church, 2067 Benton St.

Officers alleged finding gas caps removed from the buses and gasoline on the ground. The girl was charged with theft and a curfew violation.

Train runs out of 'gas' at crossing

Car horns honking loudly and people yelling drew Granite City officers to 14th Street and Madison Avenue this week where a train apparently ran out of diesel fuel at the crossing, blocking traffic.

Both Madison and Granite City police departments were "flooded with phone calls," a report noted.

Illinois Terminal Railroad was notified about the incident, but it was not indicated how long the train remained on the crossing.

Halloween parades Monday, Tuesday

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

Press-Record Staff Writer

Area children in masquerade costumes, with a sprinkling of adults, will march through Pontoon Beach Village streets Monday night and in Downtown Granite City on Tuesday in observance of Halloween.

The Lioness Club of Pontoon Beach will sponsor the Monday night parade with children from 12 months to 13 years gathering at Gaslight Shopping Center at 6 o'clock to register.

A panel of judges will rate the costumes and select first, second and third place entries for "best costume" and "most original" in three age groups — 1 to 5 years, 6 to 10 years and 11 to 13 years.

Judy Wasson, Lioness parade chairman, said the march will be from Laura Drive to Gaslight Walk, east on Gaslight Walk to Lake Drive, along Lake Drive, then west on Pontoon Road to return to the shopping center for judging.

Granite City Moose Lodge 272 will sponsor its annual "monster classic" in Downtown Granite City, with contestants of all ages asked to assemble between 7 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Tuesday at the City Hall in the 1300 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, to receive assigned contest numbers.

The parade will get underway at 7:30 p.m., led by the Rolling Nobles of Alton Shrine Temple.

Don Setzler, Moose parade chairman, today announced the judges for the 1978 Moose Halloween parade.

They include Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis and Envy Elmer Trapp, acting director of the Tri-Cities Salvation Army Corps.

Women of the Moose Chapter 247 members will help to attach contest numbers to the parades to permit easier identification by the judges, Setzler announced.

First, second and third place awards will be presented in three categories of costume: "best dressed," "funniest" and "most original."

In addition, a total of 35 consolation prizes will be available to the marchers, the parade marshal said.

The parade route will take the Halloween night marchers south on State Street to 19th Street, west on 19th Street to Delmar Avenue, and then on Delmar to Niedringhaus Avenue and back to the City Hall.

With Halloween approaching, three local organizations are featuring seasonal attractions which open today and continue through Halloween night, Tuesday, Oct. 31, to aid scouting programs.

For the sixth straight year, Explorer Scout Post 104, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, will have its "Haunted Castle." The post originated the first week-long Halloween attraction in the Quad-Cities area.

The Post 104 attraction is located at 1441 Madison Ave., which is two blocks north of where it was located last year. The "Haunted Castle" is open from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

"The Old Haunted Firehouse," located at Amos Street and Nameoki Road, across from Schuck's, is being presented by Explorer Scout Post 10-33 sponsored by the Judging will take place immediately upon the marchers return and prizes will be awarded when the winning numbers are announced, Setzler advised.

A special clown will dispense candy treats along the parade route.

Parents are reminded to escort younger children to the parade sites and to accompany the smaller contestants during the march.

"We of the Moose are committed to help children and by offering them an organized activity on Halloween night are hoping to keep everyone safe and out of mischief," the parade marshal said.

Trick or treating in the Quad-Cities is being limited to the hours of 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, upon recommendation of Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer, Madison Police Chief Donald Braddock, Venice Chief of Police Ralph D. Wenzler and Pontoon Beach Chief Rosewell Bennett Jr.

Several safety tips also are being offered by the police administrators to guide parents during Halloween.

Costumes, masks and wigs should be flame proof.

Outfits should be short enough that children will not trip, and light and bright enough to be clearly visible to motorists on dimly lit streets.

Children should carry flashlights — or reflective tape may be sewn on their costumes.

Masks and other disguises should not restrict breathing or vision.

The safest mask is a natural one made of cosmetics or charcoal, applied directly to the skin.

Don't let children carry candles or other open flames, even inside a pumpkin, the police chief stressed.

A responsible older person should accompany young trick or treaters and keep them constantly in sight.

Caution the youngsters against dashing into the streets from between parked cars or running across lawns or backyards, where they might trip or fall in the darkness.

Children should be told to look both ways at an intersection, or while crossing the street, and to lift or remove face masks which may obscure peripheral vision.

Adults driving vehicles on Halloween are reminded to take special care to watch out for the young ghosts and goblins. They may be too excited to watch out for you.

4 'haunted' houses here

Granite City Police Department. Hours also will be from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.

The Jaycees "Haunted House" will be at 1855 Poplar St. The Jaycees attraction is open from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Admission fees at each of these three Halloween attractions is $1 for persons 12 years of age and under, and 50 cents for children under age 12.

All the attractions will have assorted "creature features" such as Count Dracula, the Mummy, Wildmen and various witches and goblins.

A fourth publicly-sponsored haunted house that has been announced is being sponsored by the East Bank Players to aid in theatrical programs. It will operate nightly from 7 to 11, from this evening through Halloween, at Plaza Shopping Center, 2424 Nameoki Road, across from Kirkpatrick Homes.

New manager at Central Hardware

Bob Stogner, 46, Waterloo, has been named the new manager of Central Hardware in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, replacing Gary Johnson, who will head the firm's Alton store.

Stogner has been in the hardware and lumber business about 24 years, the last 20 with Central Hardware. He has been a store manager the past four years at the Town and Country Mall in Overland, Mo.

Immediate changes will include a new air-cushion entrance door which utilizes a stream of air to keep the cold out while the doorway remains open.

Stogner and his wife, Jean, have four children.

Five vehicles were damaged when the car of Russell Hermann, 32, of 2906 Oak St., struck the rear of the auto of Granite City Alderman Lloyd Bailey, 2807 Roosevelt Ave., on the 19th Street east of Adams Street at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, pushing Bailey's car into a line of parked cars.

The chain-reaction accident resulted in damage to both cars and the autos of William Martin, Arnold, Mo., Charles Steward and Grady A. Douglas, 1512 Lindell Blvd.

Hermann, who said his windshield became fogged and he was unable to see the parked cars, was issued a ticket charging careless driving.

Wheelchair bus plans endorsed

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council Board of Directors this week endorsed funding applications from three Madison County agencies providing special transportation services to the elderly and handicapped. Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagauer has announced.

The Gateway board endorsed $107,000 for the three agencies under a program administered by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA).

The Economic Opportunity Commission, the Edwardsville Senior Services and the Mental Health Center will use the funds for purchasing vehicles with wheelchair lifts and ramps. Services will be provided in Highland, Alton, Bethalto, Edwardsville and Granite City.

Following the funding application process, the applications will be sent to UMTA which must give final approval before funds are allocated.

"This area is a national leader in providing both public and private accessible transportation for these groups," said Gateway Board Chairman Gene McNary. "This is evidenced by the endorsement of these projects and a number of similar ones in recent months."

The board also endorsed an application from the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission for $150,000 in federal assistance for continued water quality management planning. SIMAPC is responsible for water quality planning in Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties.

In other action, the board endorsed applications from the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) and the St. Louis County Department of Highways and Traffic for funds for replacing bridges. IDOT proposed to replace and relocate a bridge south of Collinsville on Illinois 189. St. Louis County will replace the Midland Boulevard Bridge over the River Des Peres Channel in University City.

Mrs. Prater went to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for an abrasion to her left leg and pain to her neck and shoulders. X-rays were taken and she was released.

The other driver suffered minor injuries but did not seek immediate medical treatment, officials said.

DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Granite City police found a car in the middle of Madison Avenue at 27th Street sideways and blocking two lanes of traffic at 9 a.m. Wednesday and questioned the driver, who allegedly had been drinking and was unable to walk. An open bottle of liquor was found on the floorboard of the car, police said. Robert H. Browning, 57, of 2334 Paul Ave., was charged with driving while intoxicated and illegal transportation of liquor.

STUDENT HEARINGS

One Madison High School student was allowed to return to school on probation and another MHS student was withdrawn from school by his parents to be placed in an alternative educational program. The action took place at a special meeting, Tuesday, of the Madison School board.

Students also will be voting

Junior and senior high school students throughout Illinois this week will be putting the finishing touches on preparations to vote Nov. 7 for their favorite political candidates in state elections sponsored by the State Board of Education and the Illinois Board of Elections.

The mock elections are seen as a practical exercise in citizenship education, designed to help instill in future voters an appreciation of the importance of their right to vote -- and to help define the responsibilities each citizen has in a democracy.

State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin said today. "When the 26th Amendment to the Constitution was ratified, millions of younger Americans became eligible to vote. However, too few understood registration and voting procedures, and subsequently have not exercised this most basic of democratic privileges."

"The mock elections have been scheduled to coincide with the 1978 general election to help stimulate students to improve their knowledge of the electoral process."

"This program also provides an opportunity for students to become more informed on the key issues that currently have the focus of public attention."

The Illinois Office of Education mailed packets of information on mock elections to secondary schools in early October. Included were detailed procedures for conducting a mock election, recommended student activities, teacher information including explanations of current Illinois elections law sample forms, and specimen ballots.

The students who are qualified and registered to vote in their school's mock election will be casting ballots on Nov. 7 to elect the next senator from Illinois and will be voting to decide who should be Illinois' next governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller and state treasurer.

Youths set garage afire

Alvie Holtsford, 2139 E. 24th St., told police at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday that she had stopped several youths from entering a neighbor's auto and discovered her garage had been set on fire.

She said a group of youths, about 16 to 18 years old, opened a door to a neighbor's car, and she was looking inside. She yelled at them to get away from the car and reported they used obscene language toward her and then they ran into the alley.

About 10 to 15 minutes later, a passing motorist stopped and yelled that Mrs. Holtsford's garage was on fire. She extinguished the flames with a garden hose.

A trash bag had been dragged into the garage and set ablaze. The flames damaged four storm windows, a tire and a chaise lounge chair in the garage.

Crossing repair to close W. Pontoon

The West Pontoon railroad crossing west of Nameoki Road will be closed for three days beginning early Monday morning to permit replacement and repair of the tracks and crossing by Illinois Central Gulf.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer of Granite City, said the work will entail the removal of a siding near five oil tanks which city officials maintained were a hazard in the event of a derailment.

The crossing repair was ordered by the Illinois Commerce Commission after damages involving the oil tanks and the condition of the tracks were presented by Granite City officials.

Brewer said the railroad also plans to revise the grade approaching the tracks to permit better vision. No specific detour was outlined.

Trio not required to testify

Subpoenas ordering the three former Madison police officers convicted of racketeering and perjury to appear before a federal grand jury have been withdrawn, U.S. Attorney Gerald Fines said Wednesday.

While Fines declined to give details, the development followed the filing of motions on Tuesday to squash the subpoenas. They had been scheduled to appear in the grand jury's continuing investigation of allegations regarding government in Madison County.

The former officers, Ronald Grzyzwy, 41, Richard Krieschok, 49, and Edward Goclan, 36, had been scheduled to appear in the grand jury's continuing investigation of allegations regarding government in Madison County.

VILLAGE BOARD of Pontoon Beach in session Tuesday night as the trustees discuss a consultant's report on village operations. The report is critical of several areas of the village government, including the treasurer's bookkeeping and the lack of real estate taxes. From left are

Pontoon delays issue over 'growth' report

The Pontoon Beach Village Board voted Tuesday night to have the consulting firm of David Davis Associates, St. Louis, organize, revise and codify all the village's ordinances at a cost of $5,600.

The firm is to review all village ordinances, group them by subject, eliminate all overlapping regulations and unnecessary phrases, index all the ordinances and prepare them for printing.

The village then will seek bids to have the codified ordinances published in hard-bound editions. The consulting firm recommended the codification to ease future planning and annexations.

The village also will be responsible for printing of an official zoning map, which will accompany the ordinance manual. The codification work is expected to require about six months to complete.

The need for codified ordinances was one of the recommendations made by the Davis firm in the first phase of a lengthy study into village operations and its potential for growth.

Another part of that study listed alleged practices by the village's treasurer, Loretta Skinner, which the consultants questioned, including failure to publish the treasurer's annual report, hard to find records and fund balances which did not agree with the records.

The allegations made by the report, denied by the treasurer, led to efforts by Village Board President Floyd David Moss to have Mrs. Skinner dismissed from her post.

Moss wrote Mrs. Skinner a certified letter notifying her of her dismissal, but Mrs. Skinner did not pick up the letter at the post office, saying she was aware of its contents and preferred to fight against efforts to remove her, which she contends are politically motivated.

It was noted Moss dismissed her once before, in October 1976.

Arrest with guns

Ricky A. Holt, 34, of 4122 Melrose Ave., pleaded innocent at 2:40 p.m. Monday to charges of unlawful possession of a weapon and not having a firearm owner's identification card, and his bond was set at $204 cash.

Holt was arrested Sunday night in Worthen Park near Maryville Road where he allegedly had a 12-gauge shotgun and a 30-caliber rifle.

Police surrounded him and ordered him to put a gun down, and he complied, saying he had just been to a turkey shoot, police alleged. No ammunition for the guns was found.

He posted bond and was released.

Charge man with disorderliness

Mrs. Carolyn Bellman, 3008 Forest Ave., reported last week that a man came to a home in the 2700 block of Idaho Street and threatened to slash her tires.

She told the man not to return, but some time later he did come back and police made an arrest.

Charged with disorderly conduct allegedly in connection with the incident was Ronnie L. Cottrell, 39, of 2949 Warren Ave., on a complaint signed by Mrs. Bellman.

Flying ants here on warm autumn days

By WAYNE B. SIEBERT
Area Horticulture Adviser
Swarms of flying ants often appear on warm fall days. Occasional swarming can create a panic if you worry about termites. Winged ants and winged termites seem identical until you look for details.

Ants always have a constricted area at their waistline while termites are uniformly thick from head to tail.

Rear wings of ants are smaller than the front wings, while front and back wings of termites are about the same size.

Ants are easily controlled with one spray application of Diazinon. One application should destroy the entire colony.

Hears noise, finds youths in garage

A resident in the 3100 block of Aubrey Avenue heard noises in his garage during the weekend, and went outside armed with a baseball bat while his wife called police.

Upon opening the garage door, he saw a youth standing inside who darted out and ran south on Aubrey.

Officers charged the youth with curfew violation.

How often, we wait until a time of trial or temptation strikes us before we pray this prayer. Really, there is no time when we can do without God's constant upholding.

Jesus taught us that if we abide in Him, He will abide in us. This signifies that we must constantly walk in the light of God's word.

John's Gospel, Chapter 15, verse 7 states: "If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, you shall ask what you will, and it shall be done."

I am convinced, if we do not forsake God, He will never forsake us!

Are you abiding in Him? Why not do it today?

GC Junior Miss pageant Nov. 5

"Adventure" is the word describing the Junior Miss program by many former participants in the national scholarship competition for high school senior girls.

About 14 local girls will start their adventure at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5, when the 1978-79 Junior Miss pageant is staged in the auditorium at Granite City High School South.

The public is invited to attend.

Pamela Tester, Granite City's reigning Junior Miss, states "the opportunities for scholarships, the chance to meet new friends, to share in the fun, excitement and learning are all important parts of the Junior Miss experience."

"I wouldn't have missed it for anything and I hope every girl who can - this year and in the future - takes part."

The judges are: Dee Dee Swafford, director of the John Robert Powers School of Fashion, Finishing and Modeling, St. Louis; Ralph E. Gravemann, photographer and owner of Gravemann Color Photography Studio in Alton; Thomas M. Kiely, St. Louis, president of Thomas M. Kiely and Co., Inc., a firm located in Granite City; Patrick Prosser, president of Prosser Moving and Storage, St. Louis; and Jeanette Cravins, director of placement, Miss Hickey School, St. Louis.

The local Junior Miss activity is part of a nationwide scholarship program to encourage excellence in all young people by recognizing the achievements of high school senior girls, Miss Tester explained.

She said the judging standards in the local contest are the same as at the state and national levels of competition.

Miss Tester said the judges are required to evaluate a participant in five major areas:

Scholarship achievement - 15 percent - based on a careful review of high school transcripts of grades and college board examinations by qualified educators.

Mental alertness and judges conferences - 35 percent - based on a 10 minute interview of each contestant by the judges, who look for a sense of values.

clarity of expression, perception and an ability to deal in the area of human relations.

Poise and appearance - 15 percent - will accumulate points for the appearance in an evening gown, with poise, grace, grooming, good taste, carriage and posture being considered.

Youth fitness - 15 percent - based on physical well being, correct posture, carriage and grace in sportswear.

Creative and performing arts 20 percent - discovered in a talent presentation by each girl, with consideration to originality, technical ability, appropriateness of selection and costume, performance and presentation.

The winner of the Granite City Junior Miss title will participate in the Illinois state competition for an opportunity to take part in the America's Junior Miss finals at Mobile, Ala., next year.

America's Junior Miss is a non-profit program sponsored by Breck, Coca-Cola USA, Diamond Information Center, Kodak, Kraft and Simplicity Patterns.

Republican Congressional candidate Dan Stack of Illinois' 23rd District appeared on KETC-TV, Channel 9, Wednesday evening. Incumbent Representative Melvin Price declined the invitation to debate, extended to both candidates by the League of Women Voters.

Stack, when asked whether he was making a campaign issue of Cong. Price's age and health, nor do I intend to. Others have raised the issue, including the chairman of the Committee to Elect Independent Democrats."

Stack was asked what he thought he could offer which would make up for less experience and less seniority. "A freshman congressman can be more effective than an experienced man, if he has close contacts with the people and votes their will," he responded.

Stack said the proposed Columbia-Waterloo metropolitan airport is not a dead issue and that studies he has read indicate there is no alternative site. "It must eventually be built at Columbia-Waterloo, and we must do all we can to get it started as soon as possible," he told the television audience.

Asked about federal energy policy, Stack replied, "We need to put more effort into development of all new sources of energy. If we can land a man on the moon within a decade, then certainly we can move our energy needs. We need a Congress that is willing to move."

Stack said he would fight for passage of a pro-life amendment. "We must overcome the Supreme Court's ridiculous side-stepping of the issue. That issue is, 'Is this human life?' If so, that life must be protected as a person under the Constitution."

Responding to a question on the need for a new lock and dam at Alton, Stack said, "There is no doubt that a new lock and dam is necessary." As to barge line user fees, he said, "While there is a question as to the constitutionality of a fee for using the navigable waters of the United States, users of our highways pay taxes. And the lock and dam are man-made, as are our highways."

"It should not be an unreasonably high fee, however, because a lot of vital goods are shipped by barge."

Stack criticized Cong. Price's vote against the Kemp-Roth Tax Reduction Bill as an example of lack of rapport with the popular sentiment for reduced federal taxes. He said that when taxes were reduced under President Coolidge and prosperity, the nation entered prosperous times and federal revenues increased.

Stack expressed strong misgivings about the recent extension of the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, saying, "We do not need to tie up the state's legislative process with more endless debate on this issue. The states have had seven years to ratify, longer than any previous amendment has required."

Stack declined to close the door entirely on possible diplomatic relations with Cuba. But he said, "This country had better be careful about any dealings with a government which already stabbed us in the back many times."

Masquerade Ball for GC seniors

In observance of the Halloween season, senior citizens in Granite City Township are being invited to a "Masquerade Ball" at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 30, at the township building, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer said an orchestra will be provided for dancing through the American Federation of Musicians' Local 779, whose members are donating their services to the seniors' activity.

Those attending are invited to wear Halloween costumes, but this is strictly optional and left up to the individual, Hagnauer said.

All senior residents in Granite City Township are invited to the masquerade party, whether or not they are members of township sponsored clubs, the supervisor stressed.

Prizes will be awarded to those whose costumes are judged "most original," "funniest" and "best dressed."

Admission to the dance is free and no charge either will be made for refreshments, Hagnauer said.

To help all senior citizens enjoy the Halloween season, ambulatory residents and wheelchair patients at the Colonades and Colonial Haven nursing facilities have been invited to attend the ball.

Plans for the transportation of nursing home residents are being coordinated with the administrative staffs of each facility, Hagnauer advised.

Any senior citizen wishing to attend who has no means of transportation to the township hall may call 877-0400 for information concerning car pools or bus service.

Private arrangements to get to the hall should be made if possible, it was stressed.

Earlier 'Thompson proposition' in '38

By MIKE KIENZLER
SPRINGFIELD — Gov. James Thompson's tax-limit "Thompson Proposition."

It's going to be approved by the voters, whatever its merits or demerits might be. No advisory referendum has ever been defeated once it got on the ballot.

But don't be in a hurry to spend your tax savings. Lawmakers have fully complied with the results of only nine of the 21 previous advisory referenda — counting the five elections in which the public called for prohibition to be abolished or changed.

Even when lawmakers have gone along with voters' recommendations, it's sometimes taken them as long as 60 years to do so.

Thompson's proposal, which asks if voters support ceilings on taxes and spending by the state, local governments and school districts, seems to be riding the crest of popular sentiment.

But he might want to consider how fast citizens changed their minds about the last advisory referendum in Illinois.

He also might want to ponder the irony in the fact that that measure also was a "Thompson Proposition" (referring to Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago, not Governor Big Jim).

William Hale Thompson was a zany figure in Chicago Republican politics from 1915 into the 1930s. His success was due partly to his support for loose enforcement of prohibition laws; partly to campaign antics that involved such props as caged rats; and partly, in a town dominated politically by the Irish, to a promise he once made to "punch King George in the snoot."

Thompson's last hurrah was in 1938, when he spearheaded Illinois' isolationist movement. The public that year, by a vote of 1.6 million to 957,000, approved an advisory referendum instructing Illinois congressmen to vote against a national draft for a war on foreign soil.

That referendum also is the only one to include the name of an individual, asking, "Shall the people of the state of Illinois approve the William Hale Thompson public policy proposal which provides that all members in the Congress of the United States from the state of Illinois shall vote no on all legislation for the draft of American boys to fight on foreign soil?"

Nevertheless, Congress established the U.S. Selective Service System in 1940. Several other referenda have met with similar results.

In 1902 and 1910, for instance, the electorate said voters ought to be able to vote laws by direct vote, without legislative involvement. A second proposal in 1902 made the same recommendation for local government. In 1904, voters approved a referendum calling for the public to be able to veto ordinances passed by local government. In 1904, voters approved a referendum calling for the public to be able to veto ordinances passed by local governing bodies, and in 1910 they said citizens should have veto power over the General Assembly.

None of those votes was acted on, although the ballot margins were as high as six to one. (The 1970 state constitution does allow constitutional amendments to be made through the initiative, a provision included in some of the early referenda.)

The 1912 referendum endorsed the "open primary" system, under which voters would not have to declare their party affiliations in primary elections. Political independents this year tried to put that question on the ballot again, but they did not raise enough signatures to do so.

Voters recommended an effective civil service system for state employees in 1910, but the earliest version — how effective it was is another question — wasn't approved by the legislature until 1966.

Limits on and disclosure of campaign expenditures also were endorsed in 1910 — it must have been a bad year for political abuses — but Illinois' campaign disclosure law wasn't approved until the 1970s. There still are no spending limits.

Charge St. Louis woman with theft

Andrea Genovese, 21, of St. Louis, was charged with theft during the weekend after she allegedly took a woman's purse at the Upper Level Tavern, 19th and State streets, refused to return it and tried to leave when stopped by the manager.

Linda Monroe, 208 Briarwood Drive, owner of the purse, signed a complaint against the St. Louis woman. Miss Genovese was released on payment of $35 cash bond.

Ironton woman hurt in mishap

A woman motorist received injuries and a ticket during the weekend in an accident occurring on Illinois Route 203 (Nameski Road) at Primrose Avenue.

A report said Mrs. Billie M. Tackett, 48, of Ironton, Mo., had exited a private drive onto 203 and then changed lanes to travel north when her vehicle skidded into an auto operated by Curt J. Brake, 2152 Robert St.

Mrs. Tackett suffered pains in the chest, upper arms and rib area and went to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. She had x-rays taken and was released.

The Ironton woman was charged with improper lane usage and a hearing was set for Nov. 27.

VANDALIZE HOUSES

Houses being constructed at 8, 9 and 11 Westmoreland Drive had the electrical wires to them cut, Stan Lucas of Arlington Heights, the developer, discovered early this week.

Vehicle taken second time

A 1978 Dodge Ram Charger vehicle with four-wheel drive was stolen from the car lot of Marino's Tri-City Dodge, 1911 Madison Ave., during the weekend.

It was the second time the vehicle had been stolen. The first time it was taken July 18 and was recovered in St. Louis while being used in a service station burglary Aug. 22. A 51-year-old Washington Park man was arrested on that occasion and the vehicle was returned here, officials reported.

Defensive driving award to this state

Illinois State Police Superintendent Lynn Baird has accepted an award for "best performance by a state police organization" from National Safety Council President Vincent Todaro in ceremonies held in Chicago.

The award was presented for teaching the Council's defensive driving course to more than 11,000 Illinois drivers last year. This is the fifth year Illinois state police have received the award. They took top honors in 1969, 1972, 1974 and 1975. Supt. Baird commended the 25 troopers assigned to the Public Affairs Section for presenting the defensive driving program to over 95,000 citizens in Illinois since its inception in 1964.

T-shirt making class to start

A three-night course in learning to make the popular T-shirt is planned, starting Nov. 14, with registration now taking place at the Wilson Park Office. The class is free and each student will provide her own material after the first session. A choice of T-shirt patterns will be offered.

The instructor will provide her own sewing machine to go through a simple method for making a basic T-shirt. The first night will be an explanation of the pattern and how to cut it out.

Students will then go home, cut out their T-shirt and bring it back the second week for help or to ask any questions they may have. The third week is when the finished product will be displayed and ideas for other patterns will be distributed. The T-shirt instruction is a new program being offered by the Granite City Park District in its adult activity schedule this fall and winter. Harold Brown, park superintendent, explained.

DRIVER FILES SUIT

John V. Heveroch has filed a $20,000 lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court against John Brusatti as the result of a June 30, 1976, auto accident on Interstate 270 west of Route 3. Heveroch alleges he stopped his car on the interstate for construction work and Brusatti's auto struck his car, causing injuries to Heveroch and damaging his auto.

College foundation fund is tax-exempt

The Belleville Area College Foundation has been granted an unqualified tax-exempt status, according to BAC Legal Counsel Norman Nold. The Foundation was formed two years ago for the purpose of accepting gifts to the college and working to obtain support for special projects which could not otherwise be provided.

The tax-exempt status will insure that gifts to the college are tax deductible. It was announced at the BAC Board of Trustees' late-October meeting held in Highland. Forty East St. Louis students will begin aviation maintenance classes taught by Belleville Area College in January, it was noted. The high school students would have begun the course this fall; however, the hangar which housed the aviation maintenance program was destroyed by fire.

BAC has renovated Pitzman School, and the program is continuing out of that location. The Board of Trustees approved a revised contract with East St. Louis School District 189 which reduces the amount to be paid for the instructional service.

Although work was delayed by a month-long construction workers' strike, it is now progressing rapidly on new Belleville Area College buildings, according to a report made to the trustees. Eugene Hausmann, architect with Weisenstein, Hausmann, Garschinski, and Klingel, Inc., said ground at the intended depth of the footings has proved to be unstable. The architects proposed to lower the elevation of the footings.

Placement of footings has begun, with soil engineers present to assure that they are on stable soil.

Hausmann reported that $224,769 in payments to the contractors has been approved by the Illinois Capital Development Board. A federal grant of approximately $2½ million has made possible the completion of the third and final phase of the college's permanent campus. That phase will include a gymnasium, laboratories, and classrooms for varied vocational-technical programs.

Class offered in making cone trees

Only a few openings remain for a class in constructing pine cone Christmas trees, about 18 to 20 inches tall, to be sponsored by the Granite City Park District. The only class with limited openings is planned Dec. 6 at the Namokil Recreation Center, Ames and Franklin avenues.

Two other December classes already are filled, according to Harold Brown, park superintendent, who suggests anyone interested should register in person at the Wilson Park office this week. The Christmas trees, perfect for a front door or as a wall decoration, will be made of nuts, berries, pine cones, ribbons and similar items and will cost $4.

Let small firms mine coal wastes

—Sen. Vadalabene

Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) urged Tuesday that the federal mined land reclamation act be changed to allow small companies to mine coal wastes left from closed coal mines.

In a statement presented for Sen. Vadalabene by Sen. Gene John (D-Marion) at public hearings being held by the Federal Office of Surface Mining in Indianapolis, Vadalabene said proposed regulations mandate companies to post a minimum $10,000 bond at the time they begin recovery operations.

Most of the companies engaged in mining existing "go piles" do not have the financial capabilities of posting such a bond, Vadalabene said. He recommended that the federal government strike the language requiring bonding on closed mines.

The local senator said he will urge both state and federal energy officials to pursue the recommendation.

SUES AFTER FALL

Erline M. Evans has filed suit against Bill Beamon, owner of a house at 224 Paul Ave., as the result of an Oct. 23, 1976, incident when she was in that house and fell, breaking her left wrist. The suit, filed in Madison County Circuit Court, seeks reasonable compensation in excess of $15,000.

Mrs. Jewell Young presented the major lesson on "The School Room Today" to members of the Venice-Madison Wednesday Unit of Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, at a meeting held in the Venice Recreation Center, last week.

60th anniversary of Gospel Mission

The 60th anniversary of the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St., known for many years as "the Mission behind the Mill," will take place at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the chapel.

"Everyone is invited to attend and help us to celebrate this happy occasion," Mrs. Bethel J. Davis, Mission superintendent, said this week.

Special music will be provided and the Rev. Delbert E. Fisher of Kilbourne, Ill., will be the guest speaker.

The Rev. Fisher is a former pastor and Sunday school teacher at the Gospel Mission.

The Gospel Mission started in 1918 when six small boys and girls attended their first Sunday school class in the Davis home.

Two Sundays later, the attendance had increased to 35 and by Christmas it was 175 members strong.

The Granite City School District offered the use of the former Liberty School and the offer was accepted, with Sunday school instruction continuing to be held there for the next 18 years.

Services for adults were then started. "The first one being attended by 12 adults and 60 youngsters," Mrs. Davis said.

Attendance continued to grow quickly and the Pastor Building was rented. Nine years later, the Gospel Mission was established in its present building.

It is difficult to estimate the number of families that have been influenced by the Mission and its programs, but hundreds of children and adults have spent part of their lives in the Mission hall, Mrs. Davis said.

To help celebrate the happy event, Mrs. Davis said her own children are returning home for the special service.

The Davis children are Robert J. Davis Sr. of Jacksonville, Fla., Donald C. Davis, New Orleans, La., Madge D. O'Connor, Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Charles (Margot) Richards of Lancaster, Calif.

Several grandchildren of the Mission superintendent also will be here, it was learned.

Spaghetti supper set Friday in Madison

A spaghetti supper, sponsored by the Madison Ladies Democrat Club, will be held Friday, Oct. 27, at the Madison Recreation Center from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Tickets costing $2.50 can be purchased at the door and carry-out orders are also available, according to the president, Mrs. Zella Niehaus.

The menu includes spaghetti, garlic bread, a salad, dessert and drink. Children's tickets are available at a lower cost, the president said.

Mrs. Niehaus reported that during the dinner hours a voting device will be on display and someone from the county clerk's office will be present to explain the new punch card voting system.

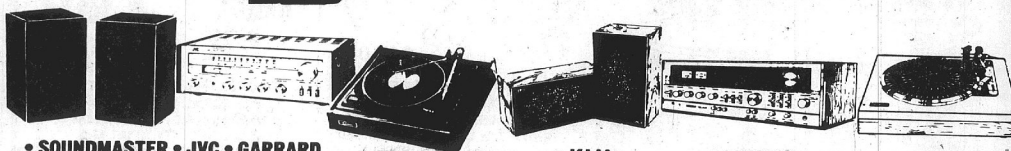

VANDALIZE CHURCH Mount Zion General Baptist Church, 2067 Benton St., was entered between 4 p.m. Monday and 8:20 a.m. Tuesday and a soft drink vending machine was damaged in an unsuccessful attempt to open it. An obscenity was written on a table with mustard. Nothing is known missing and there were no signs of forced entry.

Tom Thebeau named "boss of the year"

The Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) named Tom Thebeau, of State Farm Insurance, 1978-79 "Boss of the Year" at their annual executive night banquet. He was presented with a certificate by Mrs. Mary Sedekum, Amoco Plumbing Co., 1969 "Boss of the Year."

Selection of the "Boss of the Year" was determined by letters submitted and judged by the chapter members. Twenty-nine bosses and secretaries were in attendance. Also present were Thebeau's wife, Emily and his mother Mrs. Harry Thebeau.

Thebeau has two children and has been a State Farm Insurance Agent for ten years. He has a BS degree from Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville in Business. He is a member of Granite City Rotary Club and has served as an officer for the club, and belongs to the East side Lifeunderwriters and is currently on the board. The honoree also served on the YMCA Board and the Chamber of Commerce. At the present time, he is treasurer for the Emil Toffant sheriff committee, and also president of the Parkview School PTA.

Past bosses of the year were recognized in appreciation for their support of the Tri-Cities Chapter. Those present included Larry Siderer of Siderer Supply Co., 1967 and 1976; Mrs. Mary Sedekum, Amoco Plumbing Co., 1969; and Norman LeTourneau, 1972. They each received a horse-head planter from the main table.

"Off to the Races" was the theme at the banquet held in the Plaza Room at the Breckenridge Pavilion Hotel in downtown St. Louis. Entertainment consisted of a horse-racing film called "Secretariat" and a skit performed by three NSA members.

Serving on the committee in charge of the executive night banquet were Chairman Nancy Bezan, Becky Batson, Helen Geizelmann, Sally Gracey, Harriett Hamilton, Kathy Jones and Marabeth McConnell.

Club schedules summer reunion

A homecoming for residents and former residents of the Lincoln Place community, scheduled for the summer of 1979, was the main topic of discussion at a meeting last week of the Lincoln Athletic Club.

Members met in the home of Barry Loman for the session and appointed Jake Varadian and Michael Hagopian to serve as co-chairmen of the event. A $200 donation to the first pitch softball team for the forthcoming season was approved. The LAC team won the league and holiday tournament according to a report by manager-player Bob Martinez.

The club plans to launch a membership drive during the ensuing months, it was noted. Announcement also was made of the Lincoln Place volunteers, under the direction of Jake Varadian, are beautifying the community with a tree planting project in November at a cost of $500. The LAC Club contributed $150 to the community program. Loman reported, and added many other programs are in the planning stage.

Alcoholism topic of PTA meet

A program on alcoholism was presented to members of Wilson School PTA and residents of St. Margaret Mary parish, last week in the Wilson School gymnasium, by Mike Powers and John Darr.

Mike Powers, a 32-year old recovered alcoholic with five years of continued sobriety has a masters degree from Webster College in Human Services. He is Coordinator of Consultation and Education at Hyland Center and an international lecturer for the National Council on Alcoholism.

Some of the problems discussed were: How easy it is to become an alcoholic by wanting to be part of the crowd, especially teenagers; How alcohol affects the quality of your life; How advertising says its OK to drink but no one wants to be around you when it becomes a problem. A major point he made was "What kind of attitudes and values are we teaching our children about alcoholism by our words and deeds?"

John Darr, a counselor from Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency, 2010 State in Alton, was present with pamphlets on Phase III about a place and program for women with a drinking problem. They have a 24 hour phone for people needing help 462-2565. In the Granite City area you can call the Alcoholics Rehabilitation Community Home at 877-4887, or Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency in Granite at 1254 Niedringhaus. Their phone number is 876-5800, 24 hours is 234-7400.

On the back of the Phase III pamphlet there were ten questions that help you find out if you have a drinking problem.

—Have you ever awakened the morning after drinking and found that you could not remember a part of the evening before?

—Do you buy liquor at several places so that you won't have to return to the "same place" too often?

—Do you drink heavily when you are alone, even though you may control your drinking in front of others?

—Do you sometimes make telephone calls while drinking that you regret later?

—Has drinking created family or job problems for you?

—Have you promised yourself to cut down on drinking and failed to keep that promise?

—Do your husband, children, parents or friends complain or worry about your drinking?

—Do you avoid talking about your drinking?

—Do you usually drink until you are drunk?

—When you think about it, do you feel guilty about your drinking?

If your answer was "NO" to all the questions above you are a safe and social drinker. If not you need help. Call the numbers above, they want to help YOU, the speakers said.

Joanne Cash Yates in concert at Maryville Church

Joanne (Cash) Yates, a sister of country star Johnny Cash, and her family will be appearing in gospel concert at the Maryville Assembly of God Church, Highway 159, Maryville, Ill., on Sunday, Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. It was announced by the pastor, the Rev. George O. Ankarlo.

The concert is a blend of country and gospel music, testimony of Mrs. Yates' deliverance from drug addiction and ministry by her husband, Dr. Harry Yates, the minister added.

Mrs. Yates has published her life story entitled, "My Fears Are Gone." In the book, as in the concert she explains her addiction to drugs, and her inward fear that no one cared. It was my brother, Johnny, who first pulled me out of the drug habit, an experience he shared with his sister, she said.

Both Mrs. Yates and her husband, Harry, got their start singing gospel with a church choir in a show presented at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tenn.

Her daughter, Rhonda, is the pianist for the family, and she has appeared on national and local television and radio.

Fall tree color now at its peak

By WAYNE B. SIEFFERT

Area Horticulture Adviser

Autumn color of native and selected trees is at its peak. Tree lovers can enjoy this beauty as they drive through the countryside.

If you are selecting a tree for fall or next spring planting, then neighborhood drives can help you to see how other people's choices are working out.

Relative size is pretty important for your home, but fall color can be an extra bonus. Knock on doors if you see one you cannot identify. Most tree lovers are glad to tell you how their choice is working out.

This week is an ideal time to visit the Missouri Botanical Garden and see all the common trees as well as some of the uncommon ones.

You might decide to plant a Japanese Pagoda tree, Crimean Linden or Golden Rain tree after you see these, or some of the others.

TREE PLANTING ORDER

BLANKS AVAILABLE

Order blanks for obtaining seedlings from the Illinois Forestry Department are available at the Soil Conservation District office. The district will send a truck to the state nurseries to pick up seedlings next spring, but now is the time to order," a spokesman said.

Come in now, talk over your tree planting plans with the SCS, and get started on your tree program. The address is Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District, P.O. Box 482, Old Alton Road, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025. Or, call 656-4710.

More women now report rape, BPW told

The incidence of criminal rape apparently is growing, but more and more women now are speaking up about such crimes, Assistant State's Attorney Stephanie Robbins of Madison County told a group of women.

Mrs. Robbins was the featured speaker at the annual "Legislative Night" dinner of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

The event was held last week in the Matador Room at Mr. Yac's in St. Louis County.

Another highlight of the evening was the induction of five new members.

Initiated and welcomed were Ruth Nicholas, Shirley Rapoff and Charlene Burns, all sisters, and Katherine Zboray and Dorothy Young, also sisters.

The latter two women are the daughters of Mrs. Pearl Kennerly, who became a BPW member three months ago.

The guest speaker is married and the mother of two children. She holds a doctor of law degree from St. Louis University and a doctor of philosophy degree in Spanish from the University of Texas.

Since the fall of 1976 when she joined the Madison County state's attorney's staff, Mrs. Robbins has prosecuted 20 cases involving rapists and has obtained a conviction in each one.

She has been commended by Illinois legislators at a public hearing and has received praise from Nicholas G. Kyron, Madison County state's attorney, who said Mrs. Robbins' successful prosecution record is unmatched in Illinois.

She is the first woman assistant state's attorney in Madison County.

"More women are willing to report acts of rape than ever before and that's the only way to stop a rapist," Mrs. Robbins said.

"A rapist is a mean man," the attorney stressed. "Once out of prison, there is a good chance he'll go back to prison. Most of them are repeaters."

Mrs. Robbins said there is no type of medication that appears to help a rapist, so far known. Although, she mentioned a new program is being studied and tried elsewhere in the country.

She urged women to learn how to defend themselves against rape. If a rape does occur, report the crime immediately to police and furnish any descriptions and evidence that is available.

A woman also should go to the nearest hospital for an examination, she stressed.

Since dealing with those having been charged with rape, Mrs. Robbins commented that she has never heard an accused rapist ever confess to a rape.

"Sexual relations, yes," she said, "but never to rape."

The attorney described the Rape and Sexual Abuse Care Center, now operating at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and reviewed the services offered there to victims of rape and sexual abuse. Counseling and emotional support are given the victims and their families and center personnel also aid area police departments in their investigations and provide victim advocates and counselors to area hospitals.

A 24-hour hotline service is furnished by the center at 1-800-2197, in addition to the center's regular hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the same number.

In other business at the October meeting, plans were discussed for the BPW's annual style show.

"Medley of Fashions" is set for 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 12, at St. Mary's Engelbert Hall, 10th and Washington, Madison.

Tickets, presently are available from BPW members and participating retail shops.

A total of 90 models will show a variety of fashions for men, women and children, including disco, evening attire, lounge wear, sportswear, daytime apparel and festive outfits for the holiday season.

Verna Lengyel gave the club collect and Irene Votoupal led the pledge to the flag.

Mildred Meehan, chairman of the legislation committee, was dinner chairman, assisted by Edna J. Kohlbrecher and Norma Mendoza, co-chairmen. Envyne Alford, Becky Slate, Billie Schuler, Marionrose Lambert, Valerie Stevens, Nona Fuller, Ruth Milhouser, Helen Cristich, Diana Wells and Thelma Simmons.

Ninety members attended the dinner.

Church Women to hold World Community Day

The issue of human rights at home and abroad will be considered by Church Women United at its World Community Day Celebration on Friday, Nov. 3.

Mrs. Marion Pierson, CWU president, said a worship service, "Touchstones for Discipleship," will be held at the Nameki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, Nov. 3.

A coffee hour and registration period are planned, beginning at 9:30 a.m., with the program to start at 10:15 a.m., Mrs. Pierson said.

"Our program is designed to make us more aware of the wealth of material blessings which we, as American women, enjoy and to find practical ways of helping those who are less fortunate to achieve a better life," the CWU leader said.

Members of eight different Quad-City churches will take part in the program.

Church Women United has celebrated World Community Day every year since 1947 with a service emphasizing responsible corporate action for justice and peace.

The theme, "Touchstones for Discipleship," uses the image of a touchstone as a test of quality. In this instance the quality of Christian discipleship, Mrs. Pierson said.

All women are invited to attend the program, the CWU officer advised.

Holy Land program at Nameki Church

"The Other Side of the Coin" in the Arab-Israeli conflict will be shared in the monthly Men's Fellowship breakfast in the Nameki United Presbyterian Church this Sunday at 8 a.m.

Returning from his third trip to the Holy Land, Pastor Don Pierson will share first hand observations, personal experiences, and a broad biblical and historical background.

In the 9:30 a.m. coffee hour bible study for adults, Pastor Pierson will deal with some misunderstood prophecies regarding Israel and the land, from the Book of Daniel.

"Rainbows and God's Unshamed" will be the 10:45 a.m. morning worship hour theme, according to Rev. Pierson. The public is cordially invited to share in the fellowship of this faith-building congregation, he added.

TRESPASS CHARGED

John D. Early, 20, of Box 175, Granite City, was arrested at 25th and Court streets at 12:50 a.m. Tuesday on a warrant alleging criminal trespass to property. He was released after posting $40 cash bond.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTOR Stephanie Robbins, assistant state's attorney for Madison County and guest speaker at the BPW's "Legislative Night" dinner, tells the audience, "A rapist is a mean man and usually a repeater." She has won 20 rape convictions out of 20 cases, an unsurpassed record in Illinois, in less than two years.

Ethnic celebration set Sunday

An ethnic celebration is being planned at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave., for Sunday, Oct. 29, according to an announcement by the Rev. Edward Groesch.

Festivities will begin with an Ethnic Awareness Liturgy and Polka Mass at 11:15 a.m. Music for the liturgy will be provided by Plavie Dunay Tamborinitis of Mount Olive, Ill.

Following the service an ethnic luncheon will be served in the school cafeteria from 12 noon to 4 p.m. and also feature carry-out orders. Some of the food items to be offered will be Italian beef sandwich, Polska Kielbasa, homemade tacos and tamales, many ethnic pastries and other foods.

Various musical and dance groups will perform during the Greenroom and there will be craft items for sale on display tables. The public is invited to attend, Rev. Groesch added.

Hickey School director is guest speaker here

Paul McCarthy, director of admissions of Hickey School in Clayton, Mo., was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Future Secretaries Association of North High School, Wednesday evening.

He stressed four qualifications for a successful secretary which included communications skills, attitude, then typing and shorthand.

Illustrating his remarks personally and through slides, McCarthy told the students that if they walked, sat and stood correctly, they would give the appearance of being more enthusiastic and professional.

"If a person will practice proper posture until it becomes a habit and when talking on the phone their voices will reflect the way they are sitting and the expressions on their faces, therefore they should sit straight and smile during a telephone conversation, even if they are not in a good mood," the speaker said.

Other suggestions related by McCarthy were keep hands away from the face, do not gossip or complain, try to stay in a stable mood, which is a mark of maturity, by talking with your eyes and always smile at people.

He cautioned the girls on the importance of appearance, posture, and attitude when applying for a job, emphasizing "you never get a second chance to make a good first impression."

Attending the meeting with McCarthy were Miss Laurie McKay, job placement counselor.

3. THE F.B.I. INVESTIGATES THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE. BUT EMIL TOFFANT KEEPS QUIET.

ASK YOURSELF THIS: IF TOFFANT REALLY WANTED TO CLEAN UP THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE, WHY WON'T HE CALL FOR THE SHERIFF'S RESIGNATION? WHY WON'T HE SPEAK UP?

I'M BOB BIBY . . .

AND I WANT TO BE YOUR SHERIFF. I want these questions answered, now before the election. When criminals control our cops, then it's time for the people to speak up. That time is NOW. As your sheriff, I dedicate myself to be what I have always been. A tough, hardworking, honest cop. I want to use my education, youth and experience to make this county safe once again. Safe for you. Drusilla Andrews hears Col. Oakes

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution (DAR) held its monthly meeting in the parlor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church on Oct. 24.

Besides those named above, the other guest and members present were Mrs. Sandra Wilkinson, Mrs. Eva Meier, Mrs. D. Reva Turner, Mrs. Florence Simpson, Mrs. Barbara Williams, Mrs. Marjorie Hilker and Miss Nellie Hart.

Niedringhaus United Methodist Church with different members serving as the hostesses. Meetings will start at one o'clock, the president said.

Colonel Oakes spoke on a national defense topic "Readiness and Survival." "One question that is facing America," she said, "is where will the momentum carry Russia in the '80s?" "Are we going to be ready?" Speaking of her own involvement in the service, she reminded the ladies that for a long time, in many countries, women have been a major part of the armed services, but not in America. Because of this, our country must rely on civilians to back up the military people.

Because of the uncertainty of the future, Colonel Oakes believes we will need to increase our defense spending for many years to come. She said, "A balance of power is not satisfactory. Technology is not in the superior position." We must build our human readiness as well as our technology readiness. "Technology is not a substitute for quality in people," said Colonel Oakes.

A film "American Readiness" was shown to close her program. It demonstrated new equipment that is now in use. The ability of the new planes to be refueled in flight extends their range and capabilities. According to the film, the best assurance of peace is our demonstrated readiness to protect ourselves. Equipment, troop exercises, deployment of personnel, dedication of people—all show this readiness.

In the business meeting that followed Mrs. Lucille Butler announced that Mrs. Rita Grant has been accepted by the National Society of the DAR for membership and will be formally welcomed into the local chapter at the next meeting.

Mrs. Butler also told of the cooperation she has received from the Granite City Public Schools in having all students recite the pledge of allegiance to the flag at the opening of school each day. New flag codes are being presented to all grade school teachers from the local DAR Chapter.

Due to the change of luncheon hours at Charlie's Restaurant the group is seeking a new meeting site. For the November and January meetings, the group will again meet at the ceremony at the American Legion Hall in Troy.

The newweds took a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn.

The former Miss Germanceri is a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School North, and her husband was graduated from Assumption High School in 1979. He is employed at MCP Facilities.

Candice Germanceri weds David Laurin Butkovich

Miss Candice Lanette Germanceri, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Germanceri, Rural Route One, Carlyle, and David Laurin Butkovich, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Butkovich, 713 Lee Ave., Madison, were united in marriage on Sept. 30, at the Christian Fellowship Center in Troy, Ill.

The Rev. John Polizzi officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. before an altar decorated with ferns.

Organist Gina Forshe accompanied Brenda Browning as she sang, "If... 'Colour My World' and 'We've Only Just Begun.'"

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white Chantilly lace gown designed with an Empire bodice, high neckline and bishop sleeves.

Her bouffant skirt was created in lace edged tiers and extended into a cathedral length train. She wore a lace Juliet cap to hold in place a finger veil and she held a bouquet of rainbow color silk roses in pink, blue, yellow and lavender hues, tied with white satin streamers.

Honor attendant was Angela Germanceri, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Sandra Schmidt, another sister of the bride, Lorraine Tones and Pam Choat.

They selected identical formal length dresses in maize, lavender, blue and pink, fashioned with halter bodices accented with insertion belts, and complemented with lace bordered-chiffon capelets.

Each attendant wore a matching picture hat and carried bouquets similar to the bride's flowers.

Carolyn Schmidt, a niece of the bride, served as flower girl, and Brian Powell was the ringbearer. She was dressed in a pink organza frock created with tier skirt enhanced with white lace trim, and she carried a basket of rosebuds in variegated hues.

Attending the groom as best man was Joe Beljanski. Groomsman and ushers included Mike Germanceri, Tony Germanceri, Butch Sipes, Steve Schmidt and Delmar Compton.

A buffet supper and reception was held immediately after the

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Nameoki Woman's Club observes 25th year

The Nameoki Woman's Club, a philanthropic organization that has primarily assisted young high school students with music and art scholarships, honored the founder of the club at a silver anniversary observance.

Mrs. Louis Meek called upon some 20 friends and neighbors 25 years ago to organize a club and assist the community oriented clubs in humanitarian projects.

The group met on Aug. 30, 1953, in the home of Mrs. Meek and was federated on Oct. 20. They have provided three band scholarships at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, and one art scholarship, at Allerton, Ill., each year for high school students and have also contributed to the Burns Center of Shriners Hospitals, the Jo Meyer Park, to the tree fund, money to the Soles for Souls project, Special Services, to Care and to the talking books for the blind.

The club has also sent donations to the Salvation Army building fund, Mental Health Fund, Sadie Schroeder library fund, Lincoln Lodge for boys, Parkridge School for Girls, Easter Seals summer camp, and provided books for the local library.

Members make cancer dressings and also send money to the tree fund, YMCA rehabilitation fund, the Olympics for the handicapped, speech contest in Madison County, Salvation Army and have contributed on a monthly basis for a local girl enrolled in special education.

To secure funds for all the programs and projects, they support throughout the year, the club holds silent auction, white elephant sales, sells jewelry and calendar date books and conducts bake sales at their meetings, aside from the yearly dues of each member.

Mrs. Irma Taylor president of the club, presided at the anniversary meeting and to open the occasion she presented Mrs. Meek with a 25-year pin and accorded her special honors as the first president.

Each one present received a silver demi-tasse spoon engraved with the inscription "happiness" and featured the numeral 25 on stem of the spoon.

Mrs. Robert (Bonnie) Karandjeff was enrolled as a new member and introduced to the group.

Also presented was Mrs. Mabel Bruce, of East St. Louis, a past president of District 22 and a past president of the Illinois State Federation, who had presented the charter to the host club, 25 years ago.

Mrs. Ralph Wigger of Belleville, president of District 22, and member of the Cahokia Club was the guest speaker for the afternoon.

Mrs. Wigger stressed the importance and honor of belonging to a federated club and participating in community and civic endeavors, in keeping with her topic, "Why I Am Proud to Be a Clubwoman."

She said in the early days a woman's place was in the home, but they began to organize to help others less fortunate and in 1894 the first Illinois Federation was formed. The following year the club became the sixth state to join the general federation.

These dedicated women continued to work in their community as well as on a state and national level and were instrumental in helping create the child labor laws and organize the Health and Welfare Department, she added.

During the business session reports were given by Mrs. Bernadine Cooley, treasurer and Miss Hazel Towery, recording secretary.

Miss Towery announced a reciprocity tie is planned for Nov. 7, and the Granite City Park District will host a workshop and display of Christmas items on Nov. 18, at the Nameoki Recreation Center. The club agreed to reserve one table and allow a youth organization to use it for an exhibit.

Past presidents attending included Mrs. Meek, Mrs. Dawson Wade, Mrs. John Lentz, Mrs. Elford Cooley, Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. Emmett Beeler, Mrs. Ted Schaefer, Mrs. Harold Caldwell and Miss Lucinda Huck.

All the club members were present with the exception of one who was on vacation in Florida.

Other than those mentioned, attending were Mesdames E. M. Arnold, Hughes Blake, Elmer Branding, Lucian Dressel, Thomas Gracey, John Hark, Walter Hess, Ray Horn, W. C. Irvin, Harold Jensen, Hugh Krause, Paul Maas, Lawrence McCauley, Emil Mueller, Otto Shelton, Herman Steinberg, James Stuart, Irb Todd, Fred Werner, and Miss Lily Dod.

As 'new look' Press-Record nears, we feel pride in our heroic newsboys and the 75-year 'we care' P-R tradition

Happy and proud? You bet we are, regarding the new Press-Record carriers whose alert and responsible aid saved the life of a woman customer on their Circle Drive route. Thomas McElroy, 14, and Timothy Vaughn, 13, displayed the kind of helpful attitude and action that the Press-Record seeks to emulate in all its services to the public.

Newsboys are one of the services exemplifying our concern and consideration for Quad-Cityans. They provide the type of personalized, "we care about you" effort that makes a big difference in achieving the goal of a well-informed, responsive citizenry.

This isn't "just another community," but a busy, caring, friendly, thriving area in which the Press-Record and all its people strive to play a beneficial, constructive role.

It's our home — it's where we want to be — and on the eve of significant technical improvements in our product we renew our pledge of the past 75 years to give the most comprehensive news, editorial, advertising and photographic coverage available anywhere.

Competition abounds. At last count, there were three — count them, three — "news offices" within a few feet of each other in downtown Granite City. Still others "serve" the region from more remote locations. The more the merrier, from the standpoint of free enterprise and the competitive business concept that has helped America achieve an unprecedented standard of living.

We respect most but not all of our competition. Extravagant claims, negative distortions, misleading comparisons, whispered wheeling-and-dealing, non-existing reader populations, reprehensible working conditions, unethical practices — they don't "turn us on," and they don't turn on anyone indefinitely.

You just can't fool all of the people all of the time, as one great Illinoisan phrased it. Preparing and publishing a newspaper is fun, but it's also a lot of hard, detailed work that cannot effectively be shortcut or faked. And it can't be done well by persons unfamiliar with local people and places, and by those with some other axe to grind than producing the best possible local newspaper.

Why is there suddenly such intense interest in vying for Quad-City readers and advertisers? It would be nice to think that it is just a sincere desire on the part of many out-of-towners to help the citizens and businesses here, but it seems also to be linked with several overlapping kinds of regional circulation wars that relate to this community only indirectly.

Some of the hiring that has taken place has brought to mind not only the assembling of an expanded staff but the potential crippling of other staffs — for example, the luring away of the Edwardsville daily's editor and of key people at several other Illinois newspapers. Fortunately, no crippling has occurred, judging by the continuing quality of the publications that were affected.

Circulation wars come and go, with their appeals to national and regional advertisers rising and falling, and their "concern" for readers' needs ebbing and flowing. But the Press-Record alone of all Quad-City papers has remained a constant companion in all the generations.

We've been here not only when "bands were playing and flags were flying," but also through troubled times when our community underwent severe challenges of its ability to meet individuals' and families' needs. We've paid our taxes — and our employees — without interruption since 1903.

The Press-Record remains the only newspaper printed here, and we're bubbling over in anticipation of the new look that is about to be achieved through installation of the most modern type of offset production facilities available anywhere.

A colorful, more eye-pleasing Press-Record newspaper is about to be unveiled. And our 56-page press will be here in Madison County, in the Quad-Cities, where our heart is.

Timely Madison city action in removing member of council

Despite the threat of legal proceedings seeking to reverse their action, Mayor Mike Sasyk and Madison aldermen this month took the appropriate step of removing from office a City Council member who has been convicted and sentenced on racketeering and perjury charges.

It has been asserted that as long as an appeal is pending, a case is not closed and a conviction has not been verified by final adjudication. There is some logic in this contention, but it has to be kept in mind that the appeal process sometimes seems to go on endlessly. And Illinois law provides a method of restoring lost privileges to ousted elective officials who are exonerated by successful appeals.

Madison officials acted forthrightly in dealing with the issue of a convicted and sentenced alderman.

Another factor they will want to keep in mind is that the trial spotlighted mid-1970s Madison tavern and brothel activity that spawned conditions under which racketeering and acceptance of favors allegedly occurred.

Condoning of such activity is blamed on three former night officers — the ex-alderman and two others. Officials are credited with ignorance of the goings-on until a Madison-led raid that was followed by a demolition and two resignations but no prosecution until federal authorities acted several years later.

City officials undoubtedly will seek to avoid surprise over future illegal tavern occurrences. They cannot be everywhere 24 hours a day. But their responsibilities are considerable and should not be narrowly defined, now that such a glaring past breakdown has been documented.

Parking, pool under study

Present plans for expansion of Wilson Park parking facilities are expected to be enlarged even more as the result of a traffic and comprehensive survey of park facilities presented to Park Board members in a meeting Wednesday night by representatives of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

The survey was prepared by Jim Monday, Greg Stearns and Don Schmidt of SWMRPC to supplement planning of a new swimming pool which the park district hopes to build with proceeds of a bond issue.

The bond proposal, which also will include other projected improvements at the park, will be decided by a referendum to be held Dec. 2.

Construction is proposed of a "Wave-Tek" pool that would generate three-foot waves for use of surf boards.

The survey projected potential traffic loads based on the building of the swimming pool. A board member said the figures will be studied with a new toward revising present plans to enlarge parking facilities if it appears feasible.

A delegation of Park District residents attended Wednesday night's board meeting to ask questions concerning the bond proposal and the need of the swimming pool.

Henry Bieniecki, an engineer, told the board he did not believe the pool is needed, but Jake Hinterser, Park Board president, explained the present pool is badly deteriorated with extensive leaks that cause a large loss of water.

The board approved a suggestion by Mrs. Margaret Nomm, alderman of the Fifth Ward, that a hitching post on Cleveland Boulevard be moved to Civic Park as a historic item. Mrs. Nomm told the board by letter that the three-foot-high post would be moved by the city street department.

Damaged signs will be erected again

To the Editor:

In case anyone wonders why the "Dan Stack for Congress" sign between Wabash and Harrison is a large chunk missing from one corner, it is because the sign was vandalized Tuesday night and thrown in the middle of a public highway.

This fate has befallen a number of our signs.

It is regrettable that supporters of candidates who are well-financed enough to afford large billboards would stoop to the destruction of small, hand-made signs erected by unpaid volunteers.

I would further like to point out that while my opponent's posters have been plastered on nearly every telephone pole in the City of Madison, in violation of city law, I will continue to refuse to break this same law, owing to my belief that two wrongs do not make a right.

Do the people placing these posters really care about their city?

When one of my staff called upon a city official to make a polite inquiry as to the legality of this, the official responded that Madison police "will stop anyone who attempts to hang posters on telephone poles."

As to those already erected on utility poles, the official said, "The weather will take care of them."

The cynical attitude of some reflects complete disregard for the citizenry, who have expressed their desire to keep telephone poles free from political advertising.

I take pride in the fact that my campaign volunteers have behaved in a clean and honest way all along, and I know that Congressman Price wishes for his supporters to do the same. I call upon them to respect the wishes of the man they support, by respecting private property and the law.

Furthermore, any sign of mine which is vandalized will be glued together and re-erected.

I think that the people of this county have had their fill of political "dirty tricks."

We intend to prove that you can win without them.

Near-collisions between trains, cars

To the Editor:

I just wanted to write a quick comment on the letter you published in your editorial section on Monday, Oct. 16, from Harry J. Bruce, senior vice president, marketing department, Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

I can well understand Mr. Bruce's fears as expressed in his letter. I, too, have often seen near-collisions between trains and cars.

But Mr. Bruce speaks of his concern for the train crews when he, himself, was engaged in an action intended to harm those same men he claims to be concerned about.

The action I speak of is his assisting in the movement of that train during a union work stoppage.

"A rose by any other name smells the same." A strikebreaker is a scab.

If Mr. Bruce had not been or that train, he never would have had to suffer the experiences he did.

Heroes spotlighted by Press-Record

To the Editor:

The front page of the Thursday, Oct. 19 issue of the Granite City Press-Record was covered with pictures of heroes: the internally valiant, a determined group of business and union United Way leaders, and three undaunted local citizen heroes.

The local heroes were directly involved in saving lives of other citizens.

A lady pushed her fears aside and courageously performed mouth-to-mouth resuscitation first-aid that was successful. Two persistent youths were confronted with an emergency and their correct response is credited with saving a life.

Granite City has many heroes:

A few short years ago, a Granite City youth became a nationally-known hero when he extinguished the flaming clothes of a workman and then comforted him on an aerial ladder 40 feet above a dying man — the injured man's partner — and inches away from a high-voltage line.

A few short months ago, a prominent Granite City businessman did not pass an obvious auto accident. He stopped and selflessly administered successful resuscitation to a person from a neighboring city.

— Since Jan. 17, 1978, in Granite City, lives are being saved almost weekly by a group of high-hearted citizens. These sidewalk heroes simply offer information and alternatives to a surgical separation.

At today's rate, in Illinois, the equivalent populations of Belleville and Granite City are being destroyed yearly. That many people were surgically removed from the responsibility of unborn children — all but two who made that choice survived, in 1977.

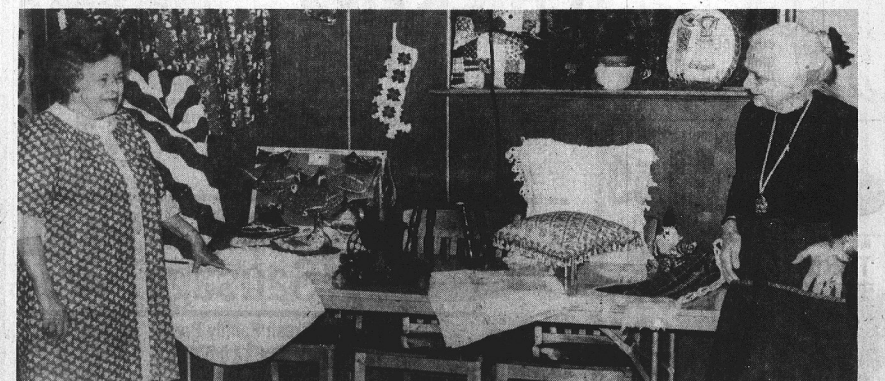

The response of heroes helps make our community a good place to live.

Thanks for your thoughtful, provoking front page.

Steelers end regular season with 2-1 victory over Belleville West

By DOUG IRVIN
for the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — It could have gone either way, that is true of any point game. The Granite North Steelers, Monday, hosted Belleville West and ended their season with an impressive win over the West Maroons by a light score of 2-1.

Thirteen shots on goal were taken by the Steelers, of which two went in. Ten were saved by Mike Howard, the Maroon goal keeper and one went sailing over the net.

JEFF DeMOTT and Bob "Moose" Batey combined on both goals. The first was shot by DeMott and assisted by Batey and the last was vice-versa.

"Moose and Jeff have had a very successful season for us," said Coach Bob Kehoe of the Steelers.

North scored first on the 20-yard shot by DeMott. Howard almost saved the shot, however, as he got two hands on the ball.

Yardstick

	North	West
Shots on goal	13	9
Corner kicks	4	1
Saves	6	10
Faults	19	13

The force of the ball was, too much for the keeper, however, and North was up 1-0 with over 26 minutes to play in the first of two halves.

"Personally, I like to play two 40 minute halves instead of the four quarters," said Kehoe. "All the quarters give you an unnecessary break in the action of the game."

A minute later, Glenn Edwards took a pass from teammate Batey, but because of a beautiful diving save by Howard, didn't score.

JOHN JOHNSON of the Belleville West squad tied the score at one-all with a little over six minutes left in the half.

Several shots were taken by the Maroons on the right side of the goal. Tony Pierce, North's goal keeper, blocked them all — except Johnson's which went flying to the opposite corner.

Greg Holdener, received the assist for Belleville.

Batey put North on top to stay with an assist from DeMott. 2-1.

The score stayed 2-1 throughout the rest of the game, but the game wasn't definitely won until the time ran out. With 16 minutes left, Dan Blase headed the ball towards Pierce and North's goal. Pierce was able to just watch the shot sail over the top of the net.

AGAIN, Johnson moved within range and almost tied the score. Johnson and Pierce were all alone as Johnson's shot was just deflected to the side of the goal by Pierce's extended arm.

The clock showed 37 seconds left and Pierce's face showed that he knew the game wasn't over, as West still had some shots on goal left. The Maroons took several shots while Pierce made several excellent saves — thus saving the game, 2-1.

"YOU PLAYED good enough to win," said Kehoe to West's coach, Gary Carr, while holding back his victorious smile.

North, with this win, finished its regular season play with a record of 9-8-1.

"This game shows that we (West) are not afraid of anything," said coach Carr. "We were down, but we never quit. The ball was all over the place."

"I liked what I saw out there," said Kehoe.

How they scored

'Ghosts' haunt Cougars' victory

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — It's the season for ghosts and goblins and spirits and all those kind of things.

Monday afternoon, as the autumn sky darkened above the college soccer game between a little known school, Covenant College of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., and the mighty (fourth-ranked nationally) Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the "Ghosts of Things Past" stalked grass-covered Cougar Field while the teams played to a scoreless standstill for nearly the first half.

However, the Cougars managed to "exorcise" their first-half problems and came alive in the second, ripping the nets for a 5-0 victory.

"THE COUGARS," feeling mighty good after their impressive and pressure-packed 3-2 victory over a very tough Quincy College eleven Saturday, just couldn't buy a goal although they outshot the Scots of Covenant by a 25 to 2 margin that first 45 minutes.

The faithful Cougar soccer fans, recalling the losses to the Rivermen of the University of Missouri, St. Louis, and the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee at just about this same stage in last year's campaign, were chilled with fear of an upset loss to a team which just two weeks ago had lost to St. Louis University by an 8-1 score.

'Boot' tickets on sale

EDWARDSVILLE — Tickets for the annual "Bronze Boot" soccer game, pitting Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville against St. Louis University are now on sale in this area.

The game is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 11 at 2:30 p.m. at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis.

General admission prices, all ages, are $2 in advance and $3 at the gate.

A special team ticket price is available for youth leagues. When purchased in advance, the team ticket is good for 15 children (under 18 years) and five adults.

Students at SIUE and St. Louis U. will be able to buy tickets for $1 in advance. In the Quad-Cities area, tickets are available at Earl's Sporting Goods and Mendoza Sporting Goods in Granite City and at Leroy's Market in Pontoon Beach.

With just a little over 43 minutes remaining in the first half, "The Cougars" "Mr. Clutch," striker Don Ebert, went to work. He took a header pass from Matt Malloy and shoved the ball past Covenant's keeper, Ken Lee. And, the pressure eased more than somewhat.

INCIDENTALLY, the Scots' keeper, young Mr. Lee, turned in a nerve-racking 15 saves as the Cougars bombarded him from practically every angle.

At 58-47, after Covenant came back the second half still hoping for an upset and held the Cougars at bay, it was Ebert again, from his favorite battery mate, the same Matt Malloy, who made the score 2-0 SIUE.

At long last, within just three minutes, the Cougars exploded for three goals: Tim Guelker (another assist by Malloy), one by Malloy, and the finale by "Bombing" Bob Bozada, making the final score 5-0, SIUE.

After the scare thrown into them by Covenant, it is hardly likely that the Cougars and their coaches, Bob Guelker and Rick Benben, will take their next two opponents lightly.

Saturday, it'll be the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, and Sunday, the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, in the Windy City.

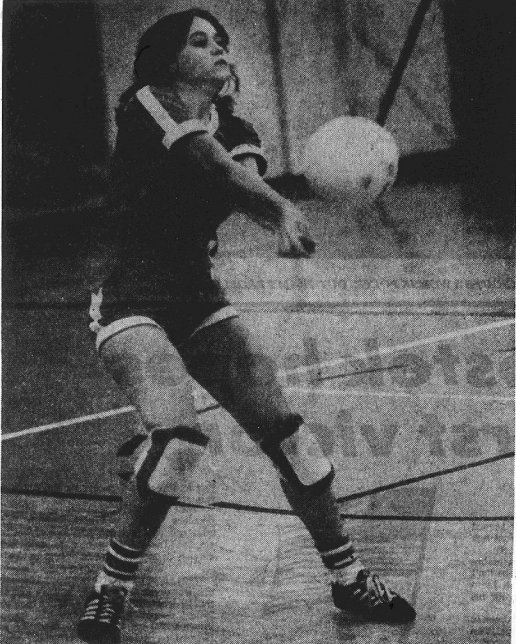

THE VICTORY Monday ran the Cougars' record to 10-1 and was their eighth in a row. It was Bob Robson's seventh shutout, too. Ebert, whose two goals raised his season's total to 20 points, has tied his entire 77 season output. More importantly, though, than Ebert's total number of goals, is when he scores them. Including the winning goal in overtime against Quincy, he has come through with the game-winning clincher in four other games.

Ebert, however, gives credit to the Cougars' defensive unit. "There today against the Tennessee school we would have been in real trouble without Mike Kelley, Tim Clark, Terry Trushel and Pat Malloy on the backline and our mid-fielders, Brian Higgins and Bob Bozada. They kept them off the board until our offense could get its act together," he said.

AFTER THE TRIP to Wisconsin and the Windy City, the Cougars return home for nearly two weeks off before their showdown game with St. Louis U., at Busch Memorial Stadium, Saturday night, Nov. 11, in the annual Bronze Boot battle. SIUE finishes its season hosting Bowling Green of Ohio in mid-November.

Already speculations are floating around as to who the four midwest NCAA regional teams will be. Top favorites, of course, are No. 1-ranked Indiana University, the Cougars, Bile, and a real dark horse, The Purple Aces of the University of Evansville. Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Cleveland State and Akron U. aren't out if they, either.

Soccer pairings are released

BLOOMINGTON — Pairings for the four downstate IHSA soccer sub-sectional tournaments were announced here Monday. The dates of the tournaments will be today (Oct. 26) through Tuesday, Oct. 31.

This year, a new format is being used at sub-sectional level. Instead of the entire tournament being held at one site, games will be spread among participating schools' home fields, the draw determining which school plays at home.

In the playoff points format, each team in the state (before the season) selected 10 games it would count for points, to determine home-field advantage in sub-sectional games. If a team defeated another in a 7-0 record, for instance, it would receive more points than if it beat a team with an 0-7 record, etc. It is similar to the points system used in state football playoff pairings for independent schools.

In the first game of South's sub-sectional (to be played today) Waterloo Gibault is facing Waterloo Gibault at Gibault and East St. Louis Senior is playing at Belleville Althoff. The winner of the Waterloo-Waterloo Gibault game will play GCHS South at South this Saturday, Oct. 28. The winner of the East St. Louis game plays at Cahokia Saturday, also at 10 a.m. South at Cahokia drew byes.

The winners of all four sub-sectionals will meet at Granite City North next week for the downstate sectional, the winner advancing to the state tournament at Illinois State University in Bloomington Nov. 10-11.

In the GCHS North sub-sectional, Madison is playing at East St. Louis Assumption in the only first round game. Monday. The dates of the tournaments will be today (Oct. 26) through Tuesday, Oct. 31.

In the second round action Saturday, the winner of the St. Paul-O'Fallon game plays at Collinsville and the East-Lebanon winner plays at Belleville West. The winners of these two semifinal games face each other Tuesday for the championship.

IN THE FINAL playoff points standings for the season, Granite City South was the top point-getter among downstate schools with 188 (South was undefeated in points games). Quincy Notre Dame was second, with 164. Collinsville had 159 and Granite City North got 150 points.

The winners of all four sub-sectionals will meet at Granite City North next week for the downstate sectional, the winner advancing to the state tournament at Illinois State University in Bloomington Nov. 10-11.

Will South regain the 'Granite Rock'?

DON RAINS

GRANITE CITY — It's that time again. Once more the city will sit back and watch as Granite City North and South battle it out at Memorial Field for possession of the "Granite Rock," symbolic of football supremacy here in Steel City.

But how to predict which team will win? As the old saying goes, "You can throw records out the window on this one."

This week's Press-Record Guest-Guessers realize they stick their necks out when they make ANY prediction on a North-South game. But they have. And folks on the north side of town won't like what they read.

This week's Guest-Guessers are Don Rains, program director at the Tri-Cities YMCA and Bob Turk, a social worker at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Granite City.

Rains, 28, is a 1968 graduate of Granite City High School, where he played basketball and starred as a pitcher for Joe Fedor's last baseball team at GCHS. He also pitched four years for the SIUE Cougars.

In '68, Rains had a perfect game going in the seventh inning (it was a 7-inning game) when a batter smacked a line drive off the first baseman's glove. The official scorer gave the batter an error. The next batter hit into a double play, but Rains' no-hit perfect game went by the boards. He faced the minimum number of 21 batters, however.

Turk is a native of Granite City and attended St. Henry's Prep School in Belleville. He also attended Lewis College in Lockport, Ill., and got his degree in Social Welfare from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Turk is 29 and an avid football buff. He and his wife Sarah have two children, Jenny 3, and Sarah 2.

Now, back to the business of neck-sticking. North vs. South? Both Guest-Guessers pick South. "The Warriors' strong defense should prevail. Defense wins football games," said Turk. "It should be a close game, they always are, but I think the team with the strongest defense will win. I have to go with South."

Rains agrees. "Even though neither team has had a whole lot of luck putting points on the board," he said, "South should win it."

"But it could be another 2-0 game."

As far as the other prep game on tap, Madison at Triad, both guessers go with Madison. "They're healthy again," said Rains. "With Heard firing the team up, and with Triad getting blown out last week (by Highland), the Trojans should have an easy game."

On the college scene, our prognosticators find their first disagreement. Turk is going for an Illinois victory (Continued on Page 27)

Wojcik is afraid of overconfidence

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Stan Wojcik is trying to play the whole thing down. He said he doesn't want overconfidence to set in on his club.

Overconfidence on a team with a 3-4 record. Sounds kind of funny, doesn't it? But it's not to Wojcik, you can believe that.

Wojcik, head football coach at Granite City South, knows that when a team with a 3-4 record is playing a team with an 6-7 record mark, overconfidence can definitely become a problem.

Especially when that "other" team is Granite City North.

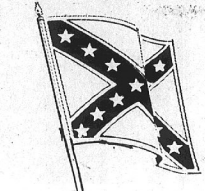

When South and North square off here tomorrow (Friday) night at 7:30, it'll be the renewal of a bitter, yet short, rivalry. Last season the Steelers from North pulled off a 17-7 victory. The year before that, South won.

South In Same Boat

"We're in the same boat they were in last year, and they're in our place," said Wojcik. "Last year we went into the game as the underdog and threw a scare into them."

"They're very capable of doing the same thing to us."

South is coming off a thrilling 2-0 victory last week over Alton, a game in which the Warriors shut down the Redbirds' all-area running back Tony Ragin to 80 yards on the ground. In fact the South defense shut down the entire Alton offense to less than 100 yards.

Does North have anyone who Wojcik feels must be shut down in order for South to regain possession of the "Granite Rock," a trophy symbolic of football supremacy in Granite City?

"I think (Tom) Greco and Kevin Buchanan are two of the finest running backs we'll see," said Wojcik. "We've seen them play and know that they're very explosive."

Trouble Getting Points

Both North and South have been having problems putting points on the scoreboard. Take South for instance. When you win a game 2-0, that says something about either the other team's defense or your offense. Usually, it's a combination of both.

"We're trying everything we can to score," said Wojcik. "But when we DO score, it's called back."

But Wojcik said that his team is starting to get breaks (both from officials and otherwise) that they weren't getting early in the season.

"The ball is starting to bounce our way more times than not," he said. "The things that were going against us earlier are going with us now."

Hondo or Parker?

South has the option of putting in two quarterbacks, Blake (Hondo) Ambuehl or Jeff Parker. Ambuehl is the better passer of the two while Parker is a potent runner. Last week, Parker came into the game in place of Ambuehl early in the game and controlled the action well. Who will it be this week?

"On the basis of his performance last week, I've got to start Jeff," said Wojcik. "He's one of the best running quarterbacks in the area and not a bad passer. But I wouldn't have any qualms at all about putting Hondo in there," he said. "In fact, depending on how Jeff does, Hondo may find himself in there earlier than a lot of people would expect."

Then Wojcik puts his finger on the problem of his team's offense. "There's no way our offense is to be complicated," he said. "All we've got to do is block."

Take Out Jeff City

On the subject of his club's defense, Wojcik said he feels they are among the best in the area.

"Heck, if you take out that first game (64-0 Jefferson City, Mo.), we'd be right

SOUTH'S WOJCIK POINTS OUT TEAM'S PROBLEMS

Wyrostek hopes for first victory

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Does an 0-7 record bring a football team together? Just ask Tom Wyrostek of Granite City North. Wyrostek's Steelers are the possessors of an 0-7 mark, but Wyrostek said he isn't sure if a record like that brings a team close together or not. The reason for his not knowing?

"I don't know because I've never been in this position before," said Wyrostek. "Not as a player and not as a head coach."

Things Looking Better

But according to Wyrostek, as his squad prepares for tomorrow night's city championship game with GCHS South, things are looking better for the Steelers.

"We're young, so very young," he said. "Most of our practices are spent trying to get the basics of fundamentals down."

"But, we'll try and throw a couple of new ideas at them (South)."

Wyrostek said that while a team can't change its entire offensive game for another team, it can hope to stir things up a bit with some kinks in the way things are done.

"I guess in every game we've played this season, the opposition has done a little something different and we've done the same thing," said Wyrostek. "Teams do that just because they realize the other guys have done some scouting on them."

What about North's scouting reports of South? What does Wyrostek tell his team has to do to beat the Warriors and keep the city crown at his school?

"We have to keep (Jeff) Parker (South quarterback held down)," he said. "The way they run that veer offense, his running ability can be very dangerous."

"I thought he had a very fine game last week against Alton."

Exceedin' No. 3

But South has a luxury that many teams don't. And that luxury spells H-E-A-D-A-C-K to Wyrostek. They can go with another quarterback besides Parker, Blake (Hondo) Ambuehl, and Ambuehl is just as effective a passer as Parker is a runner.

"That definitely presents us with a problem," said Wyrostek. "With two quarterbacks, a team has two styles of offense. Instead of having to gear our defense to one, we have to gear it to two."

Steelers Defense Strong

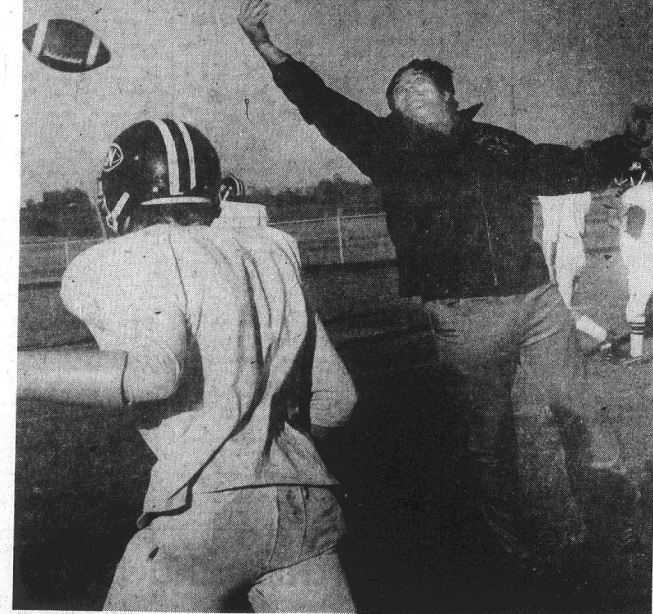

What about that North defense? Through the first seven games, they haven't looked that bad, actually. In fact, at times they've looked darned good. "We've had fewer injuries and have got more experienced players on defense than offense," said Wyrostek. "But they've had to play out on the field more than they should have."

The Steelers offense is quarterbacked by sophomore Danny Patterson, who was pressed into service when regular starter Tim Dudley was knocked out with a knee injury early in the season. "Danny's coming along well," said Wyrostek. "But I like to think of things on a team-level, rather than as individuals."

Game Has Meant More

Wyrostek said that the two teams (North and South) have met before when there was more at stake (a state playoff berth for North in '74 and '76), but that the game always means a lot to the players. "It means so much to beat South," he said. "Of course I always get upset whenever we lose. . . I enjoy victory so much."

"That's why I stay in coaching."

WHILE NORTH'S WYROSTEK DEMONSTRATES HOW TO PLAY LINEBACKER

An open letter to the 'Frantic Fan'

Editors' Note: The following is printed by permission from the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Dear Frantic:

If someone were to ask what represents the greatest peril to the survival of high school sports, you might say specialization, overemphasis, officials, coaches, or administrators. You'd be wrong.

The greatest peril to interscholastic athletics is you, my friend — the frantic fan.

Specialization and overemphasis can, and are, being curbed; officials trained; coaches and administrators are guided, but you, Mr. Fan, you answer to no one; that is, until a program has been ruined, students penalized, young images shattered, because you didn't control yourself.

Perhaps it's not all your fault, perhaps you have never been exposed to proper spectator decorum. At any rate, a few definitive guidelines may serve to protect the program and, at the same time, enable you to better enjoy whatever contest you are viewing.

High school athletics were not developed as a sounding board for your immaturity, as a vehicle to "let off steam," rid yourself of "frustrations," etc. This may be all right in professional sports, where you pay a premium price to vent your emotions at athletes who are paid a premium salary to put up with your antics.

It's different in interscholastic contests. Your ticket entitles you to one thing — the privilege of watching the more talented students of two schools exhibit what they've learned in the athletic classroom. For the athletic field, court or diamond is merely an extension of the classroom; if it were anything else it would have little reason to survive.

You would not think of entering a math, history or English classroom; flask on hip, and berate, often curse and physically abuse the math, history or English teacher. Yet, all too frequently you think nothing of harassing players and coaches in their athletic classroom — the field of play.

High school administrators have always given you the benefit of the doubt, Mr. Fan, sometimes because you were a players' parent or an influential citizen. But you're being put on notice that administrators can no longer tolerate your childish, immature behavior, whether you're a recent graduate, a parent, or merely a resident of the community.

If, indeed, you are sincerely interested in the continuation of interscholastic athletics, then keep a few basic points in mind:

1. There is no such thing as a "right" to participate in interscholastic athletics. Whereas most academic subjects are mandated by the proper authorities and each student has a "right" to be exposed to them, interscholastic athletics are considered a "privilege" and the player or spectator who avails himself of it is expected to conduct himself or herself accordingly.

2. Your team does not belong to the community. It belongs to the school, and that school has voluntarily agreed to abide by a certain set of rules, so that all athletes may compete under the same standards. If these rules offend any special groups or individuals to the point where they cannot conduct themselves rationally, then, by all means, these persons should be encouraged to direct their energies elsewhere.

3. Accept the fact that all high school athletes make mistakes. They are not perfect, and never will be. There is compensation, though, as these mistakes make high school athletics exciting and unpredictable.

4. Remember that your coach is a teacher first, and coach second, and anytime you join any misguided souls in trying to reverse this order, you are taking the first step in destroying your program. Remember, no coach, player, or administrator wants to see a program fail. In most cases, failure can be attributed to the merciless pressure of you, the fan, who played little or no part in the building of the program. Small wonder that the high school coaching field has the highest turnover of any coaching level.

5. Make an attempt to learn the rules of the game and then leave the officials alone. Much time and effort is spent in the training of these officials. The spectator who constantly criticizes them is almost always ignorant of the rules.

6. Finally, keep in mind that you are a guest of the school, and that while winning is certainly an admirable goal, it is hollow if it comes at the expense of morals, ethics, and just plain common sense.

A beloved president once said that the world would soon forget his words, but remember the actions of his soldiers.

As the years pass, the score of a contest becomes relatively unimportant, sometimes forgotten. But your conduct remains ingrained forever in the minds of those who were most affected.

Will they be proud or ashamed? The choice is yours!

 over Indiana and Rais is going with the Hoosiers. "Indiana should handle the Illini," said Rais. "Illinois just doesn't have much going for it at all."

But Turk disagrees. "I think Illinois will be able to handle them," he said. "After all, they tied Wisconsin when they (the Badgers) were unbeaten and they only lost to Purdue by 13, and the Boilermakers are leading the Big Ten right now."

Both guessers feel the SIU will be able to beat Northern Illinois easily and that Missouri will beat Colorado. "Missouri all the way," said Turk. "God love 'em."

On the pro scene, our guessers again differ. "St. Louis is due," said Rais. "Of course they need a little work, but they're going to win their first one Sunday in Philly."

"The Big Red Should have beaten Dallas twice, they really had them beat and let up," said Rais. "If they've never really been out of any of their games, except for the one against Washington."

But Turk feels St. Louis is in for an 0-9 record after Sunday's game in Philadelphia. "The Cards need so much it's pitiful," he said. "They need a running back who can get outside, they need a running quarterback, they need a new quarterback, they need a new quarterback, they need a new quarterback, they need a new quarterback."

 Red Devils advancing are junior Susan Whitney in singles and the doubles teams of Vicki Shields-Anne Hutchins and Mindy Cushing-Caroline Barclay. Whitney lost to Jaeger, 6-2, 6-2, last fall in the singles title match, while she teamed with Nancy Nyquist in 1976 to claim the doubles crown.

Another contender in singles could be senior Cindy Reiman of Peoria (Richwoods), who was a member of the runner-up doubles team last fall with Sue Moore.

Schools advancing both singles players and doubles teams are: Chicago (Young), Chicago (Morgan Park), Aurora (West), (Thorridge), Elmhurst (York), Collinsville, Joliet (Catholic-St. Francis), Ottawa (Twp.), Chicago (University) and Peoria (Richwoods).

Summers to Japan

CINCINNATI—John (Champ) Summers, former basketball and baseball star for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars, has been picked as a member of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team which departed yesterday (Wednesday) for a two-week tour of Japan. Summers is a native of the Cougars.

Summers was sent down to the Reds' Triple A club at Indianapolis after the season started this spring. In the Indiana capital city, Summers set the league on fire, winning nearly all the titles in field hockey here Tuesday, but in the end fell to a tough Mascoutah squad 3-1 in overtime.

GC street program runs into problems

Granite City's $234,000 street resurfacing program that got under way Tuesday ran into immediate objections by some residents and resulted in cancellation of at least one proposed street project. It was brought out during a meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

In addition, protests were made at the council session by a homeowner at Wilson Avenue and Sunset Drive who charged the city was making a mistake in resurfacing Wilson Avenue with asphalt and leaving connecting streets with their present concrete surfaces.

Robert York, 2901 Sunset Drive, who was granted permission to address the council, said he came home from work Tuesday and found the street "covered with puddles of oil."

He said there had been no posting to make residents aware of the work, and that he believes it is "bad business" to make one street asphalt and then how are you going to repair it?" York said.

Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward in which the project is located, said he was not informed by the city engineer's department that Sunset Drive was on the improvement list. Earl Baker, also an alderman of the Sixth Ward, noted that he and Parmley had left the list of street selections in that ward up to the engineers.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer, explained that Wilson Avenue was on the list of work approved by the City Council, but that the objections of residents on Sunset Drive resulted from oiling equipment proceeding through the intersection at Wilson Avenue.

The oiling process provides a seal which is sanded and then overlaid with two inches of asphalt, Brewer said.

The cancelled street project called for resurfacing Frontenac Lane from Westchester to Franklin. That job was cancelled, Brewer said, when residents along the street called the engineering department early Tuesday before oil could be applied and objected to having the work done.

Instead, Brewer noted, the resurfacing work will be shifted to St. Clair Avenue from Maryville Road to Edgewood Avenue.

The resurfacing program was scheduled to start Monday, but was halted again Wednesday because of rain.

The work is being done by Reese Construction Co., under a bid of $234,981.

Twenty-one sections of city streets are to be resurfaced under the program, requiring a total of 30,537 lineal feet of blacktop paving, or a total of 5.78 miles.

Streets to be resurfaced, and the length of the resurfacing, include:

Niedringhaus, 20th to Adams, 2,100 feet; Washington, Niedringhaus to 22nd, 420 feet; Lee, 20th to 23rd, 2,440 feet; 24th, Washington to Benton, 2,494 feet; Cleveland, 20th to 24th, 3,106 feet; Benton, 22nd to 23rd, 900 feet; Kate, 24th to Hodges, 1,233 feet; State to Benton, 1,300 feet; Iowa, 20th to 30th, 960 feet; Grand, 26th to 29th, 2,720 feet; Benton, 27th to Oregon, 1,800 feet; State, 29th to end of school property, 600 feet; Terrace, Garfield to Ponton, 1,640 feet; Janday, Oakland to Terrace, 745 feet; Oaklawn, Terrace to Terrace, 1,624 feet.

Willow-O'Hare, St. Clair to Klarney, 2,155 feet; St. Clair, Maryville to Edgewood; Fortune, Ramona to Leonard, 1,350 feet; Wilson, Fortune to make one street asphalt and then how are you going to repair it?" York said.

In a related action, the council Tuesday night also awarded a contract for resurfacing the approaches to the rail crossings on Niedringhaus Avenue in a program now under way by the railroads to replace the rail crossing.

In that program, the city will be required by resurface and widen about one-half block of the approach on each side of the Niedringhaus railroad tracks after the crossing is repaired.

The council awarded a contract to MacLair Asphalt Co. on a bid of $45,570 after rejecting a bid of C.D. Peters Construction Co. that was $50 less than the MacLair bid. The rejection was made necessary by an Illinois Department of Transportation requirement that any bidder on a project using motor fuel tax funds must operate its own asphalt plant to meet specifications.

Alderman Ronald Coleman of the street and alley committee reported the Peters bid would have to be rejected because of the state regulation.

Brewer told the council the Niedringhaus Avenue crossing repair will cost a total of about $250,000, with the city to finance only the asphalt and widening costs under the MacLair contract. The track replacement and crossing repair will be financed by the railroads with aid from the Illinois Commerce Commission's grade crossing safety fund.

Nearly all SIUC law graduates passing exam

Graduates of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale's School of Law are passing the Illinois bar examination at one of the best rates in the state, according to David C. Johnson, associate dean. He said between 85 and 95 percent of the SIUC graduates who take the Illinois bar examination pass it — a figure comparable to that of more established law schools such as the University of Illinois at Champaign.

The SIUC law school opened in 1973. "It's a good law school that can start off right away competing with the U. of I.," Johnson believes.

Law students must pass the bar exam before they can practice law in Illinois. In the school's first full graduating class (1976), 79 out of 90 passed the bar examination on the first try. Of 21 members of the 1977 class who have taken the exam so far, all but one passed.

"SIUC also has an incredible rate of success for students taking bar examinations in other states," Johnson said, "especially since the school is aimed at producing Illinois lawyers."

"The SIUC School of Law, with 238 students, has the smallest enrollment of the nine accredited law schools in Illinois. The student-faculty ratio of 15 to 1 is one of the most favorable in the nation."

"Graduates who fail the bar examination generally are those who have not participated in an intensive review beforehand, or who were involved in too many outside activities during their final year of law school," Johnson said.

A student-run review offered by the Bar Review Institute (BRI) is conducted to help students pass the exam. The law school itself is not involved in conducting the review, but does provide space for the students.

"Any graduate of ours who reviews — whether through BRI or on his own — has no excuse for failing the Illinois bar," Johnson concludes.

Seminar on cosmetology

A two-day seminar for cosmetology students and practitioners will begin Sunday, Nov. 19, at 9 a.m. at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville.

It is sponsored by the General Studies and Community Services Department of Belleville Area College and the Cosmetology Advisory Committee and will be conducted by Hair Surgeon Designers.

A registration fee of $25 must be received no later than Nov. 13 in the office of General Studies. Checks are to be made out to Belleville Area College and mailed to 2500 Criley Road, Belleville 62221.

Salon owners, beauty culturists, hairstylists and cosmetology students particularly will benefit from the seminar, a spokesman said.

The seminar will provide a "complete learning experience in creative hair designing, salon success management, and successful thinking concepts."

Included in the program will be lessons on client consultation, complete cutting details, and permanent waving; nutrition of hair, skin and nails; fashion design in clothing and makeup.

Management theory concerning customer service, effective communication, and professional sales techniques; successful thinking concepts concerning goal setting and individual growth; organizing for career success; and application of creative planning and problem-solving systems.

Hair Surgeon Designers operates a training center for cosmetologists in Cincinnati. Tuition at that center for the two-day course is $75. The seminar offered by Belleville Area College at a total cost of $25 is a special arrangement made by the Cosmetology Advisory Committee.

Robert Farwick, president of HSD, said this week, "It has always been my deep concern to share quality education. The thinking hair designer needs continuing, in-depth training in creative designing techniques, business practices and personal development to gain the confidence needed for achieving goals."

Guard arrested

Paul M. Schrage, 25, Edwardsville, was arrested Monday in the International House of Pancakes, Pontoon and Nameoli roads, and was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Granite City Police Sgt. Dennis Joyce alleged Schrage was wearing a handgun in the restaurant and when Joyce asked him to put it in the car, he allegedly refused repeatedly, saying he was a security guard for C&P Security Co., and was authorized to wear a gun.

Joyce disagreed that the gun could be worn off duty and arrested him. Schrage posted $100 cash bond and was released.

Effect of chocolate

I sometimes have a burning sensation after eating chocolate. Am I wrong, or is chocolate considered a food irritant? — Mrs. B.D.

Dear Mrs. B.D., Chocolate is not usually an irritating food, but it dramatically decreases the lower sphincter pressure of your esophagus (food tube), and this may allow some regurgitation of stomach juices.

Cool homes are healthier

Those of us who are responding to energy conservation pleas by keeping home temperatures somewhat lower this winter are likely to stay somewhat healthier than those who continue to overheat their dwellings.

The American Medical Association reminds that temperatures in the mid-60s are healthier than temperatures in the mid-70s. Heating the interior of homes and offices during the winter removes moisture from the air. The higher the temperature, the dryer the air. Air with little moisture aggravates bronchial and other respiratory problems. It contributes to dry throat and nose, coughs, and dry, itchy skin.

The respiratory system doesn't cope well with sudden changes in temperature. Moving from a very warm room into a cold room causes the body to adjust, causing coughs and respiratory problems. The body adjusts to temperature changes gradually.

There are no major health advantages inherent in keeping indoor temperature somewhat lower, but there are minor advantages that will add to comfort and well being during the winter.

If the air inside your home is very dry even with reduced temperature levels, you might consider using a humidifier to add moisture.

Is fasting all right for an overweight 10-year-old child? — Mrs. G.W.

Dear Mrs. G.W., No. Children cannot tolerate fasting as well as adults. Try lower calorie foods instead.

How and when to poach

The most humbling experience in tennis occurs in doubles when you poach on the service return and come up empty-handed.

A number of sad things can happen: you can miss the ball completely, with your startled partner watching from the backcourt; you can reach the ball but clumsily dump it into the net; you can hit a feeble volley that your opponent casually puts away for a winner; or you can move too early, inviting the receiver to hit the ball into your court.

To minimize these unfortunate experiences, here are some hopefully helpful tips:

First, a successful poach cannot be made unless you're positioned on the court properly. And most doubles players over-protect the alley.

The only time you need to cover the alley is when your partner serves wide on the deuce court, or hits a wide shot during the point; otherwise, you're better off to move closer to the center service line. This makes your travels shorter.

Timing is the most critical part of the successful poach. Wait until the receiver has committed himself, then take off and don't look back.

If you and the ball cross paths, send it at the net player's feet or slightly behind him. Don't be shy — give it a good shot.

Once you've made a couple point-winning poaches, you'll be hooked on this aggressive, go-get-'em style of play. You'll also notice a tentativeness in your opponents' service returns. That's when you can employ a fake poach. Instead of actually crossing, make them think you will, then don't. You may have the ball hit right to you.

Someday you and your partner may end up in the 1 formation; it's then you should think about using a signal system.

As your partner reads himself for the serve, you signal your intentions behind your back: open hand means go and closed fist means stay. He'll know when he should cover your vacated side.

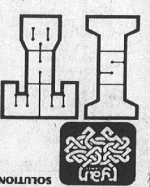

Another opportunity to poach is when your partner has made an effective low return of serve against the net rushing server. When you see the ball going low and crosscourt you can drift to the middle of the court and look for a weak volley. It should come. When it does, pounce on it.

If you miss a couple of poaches don't sulk in the doubles alley. Get out in the court and hog some of your partner's shots. He'll love you for it.

One-party university board could happen

Chicago Tribune comment — The election of a university of Illinois trustee is not considered one of the glamor spots on the ballot, but that does not mean the race is unimportant.

The nine trustees oversee a leading university, one of the nation's top 10, that is also a huge business concern, with an annual operating budget of $570 million, a physical plant worth $2 billion spread over three campuses, and 21,000 employees — not to mention their most important concern, the 55,000 students.

The trustees' terms are staggered so that three are elected every two years. This year, we find the choice easy for a number of reasons, and strongly endorse the three Republican candidates: Park Livingston, Ralph C. Hahn and Jane Hayes Rader.

One reason why their reelection is important is John E. Corbally's resignation as president of the university.

That faces the trustees with the heavy responsibility of choosing his successor. Only two members of the board — Livingston and Hahn — have been through this difficult process before.

Experience becomes more important than usual in this election. Livingston, since his first election to the board in 1981, has served on it for a total of 24 years, eight of them as president of the board.

Hahn, an engineer whose expertise is particularly valuable to the trustees in dealing with construction projects, has served for 12 years.

Mrs. Rader, seeking her second six-year term, has been active in a bewildering number of community and civic groups, notably in education and the arts. She has been an able and energetic trustee.

A second reason for reelecting the incumbents is that they are the only Republicans on the nine-member board.

Without them, the university's policy-making body would be 100 percent one-party and with three new members — at a time that political balance, objectivity and experience are acutely needed.

The Democratic contenders are Dr. Edmund R. Donoghue of Wilmette, a surgeon; Robert J. Webb of Simpson, and Paul Stone of Sullivan.

They are worthy candidates in their own right.

Dr. Donoghue, in particular makes the point that, since 30 percent of the school's budget involves medical research and education, a medical man is needed. But we believe the circumstances call for reelecting Livingston, Hahn and Mrs. Rader.

New funds for teacher corps

The Teacher Corps Training Program of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been awarded a continuing grant of $135,938 by the U.S. Office of Education. Formerly in Madison schools, the Teacher Corps developed its current project for School District 189 and concerns the Cannady and Longfellow schools in East St. Louis.

The East St. Louis project presently involves 47 teachers who have volunteered for the program. The Teacher Corps works with them and their perceived needs, according to James M. Comer, professor of elementary and early childhood education and director of the Teacher Corps Program at SIUE.

Enters house and takes two wallets

A burglar may have entered a residence at 711 Twenty-ninth Place, through the front door while the family was in the rear yard, it was reported during the weekend.

Gayle Williams of that address said wallets were stolen from her purse and from the purse of Cheryl Williams, also of that address.

Both wallets contained credit cards, driver's licenses and personal papers. One contained $30 cash and the other $10.

Active fourth quarter is likely at National Steel

National Steel Corporation expects vigorous fourth-quarter activity, Chairman George A. Stinson said this week in Pittsburgh after announcing third-quarter earnings had risen sharply.

Stinson reported earnings of $40 million in the third quarter of 1978 and $24 million in the first nine months, compared with $13 million and $43 million a year ago.

Sales were $965 million (third-quarter) and $2.84 billion (nine months), compared to $820 million and $2.42 billion.

"While we are pleased that earnings for the current quarter reached the highest level since the third quarter of 1974, profitability remains well below an acceptable range," Stinson said.

"The upturn was due to strong demand for our sheet steel products, and to intensified cost-improvement programs."

"Particularly encouraging was the performance by our steelmaking divisions, which are benefiting from the strength of the primary markets which they serve, particularly in the mid-continent area."

"A special strong point has been the achievement of new operating records by the continuous slab caster at our Great Lakes Steel Division. It continues to demonstrate the economies for which it was designed," Stinson added.

"Demand in the fourth quarter is expected to be at good levels, despite some normal seasonal decline, with the automotive, service center, machinery and metal building markets continuing to show vigor," Stinson said.

Primary steel production in the third 1978 quarter totaled 2.8 million tons, the second-highest third quarter in the corporation's history.

Shipments totaled 2.0 million tons, the third-highest amount for a third quarter.

For the first three 1978 quarters, primary steel production totaled 7.7 million tons and shipments totaled 6.1 million tons.

Stinson said that "the disturbing rise in foreign steel imports, despite efforts by the Administration's trigger price plan to reduce dumping, continues to be the cause of major concern."

"We remain hopeful that efforts by the Administration in Washington to fine-tune trigger pricing will result in a definite decline in imports soon."

"We have been fortunate that the domestic market for steel metals has been strong in recent months."

"However, during the third quarter, imports have siphoned off from American steel firms those important increments of capacity utilization which could have enhanced our earnings and brightened prospects for future capital programs."

"It is vital that foreign steel dumping be brought under control before we experience, any possible future economic slowdown which could recall the kind of devastating plant closings and job losses we saw just one year ago," Stinson asserted.

During the third quarter, Hubbell Metals, Inc., a metal service center organization of 13 plants located in the Midwest and Southeast, became part of National Steel.

"This not only widens the capability of National Steel's service centers to meet customer demand in a broader area of the United States, but also provides an important expanded outlet for the corporation's sheet products in the growing service center market," Stinson noted.

Also during the third quarter, National Steel christened its first 1,000-foot super ore carrier. "It is expected to make significant contributions to making carrying capacity and efficiency in the years ahead," according to the chairman.

Lyons, who has been designated official parade marshal by the student homecoming committee.

The traditional homecoming queen coronation will take place during the dinner and dance Saturday evening at Augustine's Restaurant, Belleville. Candidates vying for the honor are seniors Celia Almond, Brenda Maine and Sherry Pennock.

Prof. Comer has been involved in field-based undergraduate professional education since 1972 and believes that "educating young people to become teachers in public school settings" is another mission of the Teacher Corps.

The Teacher Corps in this area received its first grant in June 1975 to work in the Madison community schools. This grant ran two years, terminating on May 31, 1977.

On June 1, 1977, the Teacher Corps was re-funded to work in the East St. Louis district. The

An accident in the 3300 block of Nameoki Road at 12:25 p.m. Friday, resulted in injuries to two women.

A small boy also sustained a minor injury in a mishap involving two other vehicles about four minutes later at the same location.

In the initial crash, the south-bound autos of Miss Christine J. Wiesehan of Venice Avenue and Mrs. Dorothy A. Trower, 2500 E. 25th St., collided.

Mrs. Trower, 58, was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital with a laceration to the nose and a hematoma above the left eye. Miss Wiesehan, 18, struck her chest on the steering column. She was examined, treated and released.

While a driver was looking at the first accident, another mishap occurred at the same location.

Colliding were the autos of Deborah Jenkins of Old Monroe, Mo., and Everett Full, 2816 E. 24th St.

Lee Jenkins, 4, of Old Monroe, was listed as suffering a minor injury.

DAY FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN. Miriam Perrone demonstrates teaching techniques that will be utilized in encouraging handicapped children to use their motor skills. Serving here as a consultant to special education teachers attending a in-service workshop at SIUE, Mrs. Perrone will visit the campus again tomorrow for a "day of sharing" during "Very Special Arts Festival" activities. More than 900 children with varying handicapping conditions, along with 300 adults, have registered for the event. Participants will be involved in "hands-on" experiences in a wide variety of art forms.

Day of sharing attracts 1,200

More than 1,200 guests are expected to visit the SIUE campus tomorrow, attending a "day of sharing" in a two-day "Very Special Arts Festival."

Over 900 individuals with handicapping conditions from public, parochial and private schools and agencies of this region, along with 300 adults, pre-registered for the second day of the festival.

Pat Goehle, assistant professor of speech communication at SIUE and chairman of the arts advisory committee for Region V of the Illinois Office of Education, is coordinating the planning.

Sponsored by the Illinois Office of Education, in cooperation with the National Committee of the Arts for the Handicapped, the festival is one of five being held this fall at different locations around the state.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing until 2:30 p.m. Friday, the day of sharing will include a combination of process experiences, Mrs. Goehle said.

At booths in the Meridian Ball room of the University Center, the children will be exposed to a variety of experiences in the arts. They can paint their faces in ghoulish makeup in anticipation of Halloween, or have their photographs taken against a haunted house backdrop.

The booths will be manned by personnel from the department of theater and design.

The children can participate in sensory experiences at a booth manned by the Early Childhood Center and the student chapter of the Council of Exceptional Children. "They will learn that foods can be prepared that are pleasing to the eye as well as nutritious," Mrs. Goehle said.

At a booth manned by the department of art and design, the young visitors can enjoy at least six different arts activities. Another "hands-on" experience in the arts will include the decoration of cookies at a booth run by senior citizens. The cookies have been donated by senior citizen groups in the area.

The children will also be allowed to express their creative talents through flower arranging. The SIUE Women's Club will provide materials so that each child can create his or her own fall-flower arrangement.

At another booth, members of a 4-H club will assist the children in decorating a bag so they can carry home all the goodies they have been collecting.

In the Goehle Lounge, there will be activities continuing throughout the day, including group and individual singing, piano and organ performances, and a short play. One group of children will do a take-off on George B. Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," titled "Andy and the Kool Kats." All of the performers will be children with handicapping conditions.

disappointing conditions. Arts and crafts by handicapped children will be on display in Meridian Ballroom and in other locations of the University Center. The bookstore will feature a display of books and the latest materials available for people working with the handicapped.

As part of the Very Special Arts Festival activities, an in-service workshop was held at the university for teachers earlier this month. Area handicapped children now may have the chance to find success in life through the arts because their teachers attended this workshop, Mrs. Goehle said.

One reason why the workshop and the day of sharing offer hope is that some of the country's foremost consultants on teaching teachers how to teach children with varying degrees of handicapping conditions have been and will be available to share their knowledge with area educators, Mrs. Goehle said.

Miriam Perrone is one of those consultants directing sessions during both days of the festival. The mother of a 20-year-old son, Mrs. Perrone was the founder of Camp Sunshine. The camp was established because Mrs. Perrone felt that her son needed to be involved in drama, music and dance to reinforce his feeling of self-worth and importance, Mrs. Goehle said.

Many other consultants with dedication equal to that of Mrs. Perrone will participate in the festival's day of sharing, it was related.

A slide show and videotape on the festival's activities will be available for showing to audiences, including parent and school groups, civic clubs and other community groups interested in learning what the arts can do for handicapped children.

Funding for the slide presentation and videotaping of the activities has been provided by the Office of the Vice President and Provost at SIUE.

The interesting thing about interest rates is this...
We pay more.

That's right—we pay you more interest on your savings than any bank in the area. Or in the entire country, for that matter.

The reason? The federal government does not allow banks to pay you the same high rates of interest you can earn at Madison County Federal. It's just that simple. And here are the figures to prove it:

Term/Plan	Minimum	Rate
Passbook	$ 10	5 1/4 %
One Year	$ 3,000	6 1/4 %
30 Months	$ 3,000	6 1/4 %
Four Years	$ 5,000	7 1/4 %
Six Years	$10,000	7 3/4 %
Eight Years	$10,000	8 %

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early certificate withdrawal.

If you're saving at a bank, you're earning less on any of the above terms. If you want to do something about it—come see us. We'll make sure you get everything that's coming to you.

Thompson is solving some fiscal problems

By KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — Republican Gov. James R. Thompson and Democratic challenger Michael J. Dixon and legislative leaders have backed the financial policies of Thompson and on several occasions dismissed the criticisms of Bakalis as unfounded.

The fact that a Democratic-controlled Legislature has accepted virtually all the Thompson recommendations in his $11.2 billion budget proposed last March attests to its soundness.

Bakalis has charged repeatedly throughout the campaign that Thompson has not done enough for the public schools and higher education.

Yet, through a compromise with the Democratic legislative majority, the Thompson administration came up with a school aid program that satisfies most school boards and administrators.

It is also a matter of record that those in higher education are more pleased than they have been in recent years at their treatment by Thompson and the 1978 Legislature.

Both Thompson and Bakalis are in agreement that there is a limit to how much the cost of state government can be held down, much less reduced through efforts to eliminate "waste and inefficiency."

Both recognize that a state revenue crisis of great proportions is certain in the years immediately ahead.

Both, to their credit, have rejected the politically popular gimmick of promising there will be no increase in taxes.

Before long the tax revolt is going to collide with the inflation-fueled rise in government costs. The governor who solves that problem will virtually have to accept the fact that his reelection will be impossible.

For to accomplish, true rather than political tax reform a lot of people are going to have to be angered, if not made fighting mad.

Ironically, Thompson and Bakalis are in agreement on one major issue that will unquestionably add significantly to the cost of government at both state and local levels. Both favor collective bargaining for public employees, including school teachers. Enactment of such a law will strengthen the already formidable power of public employee unions.

Thompson and Bakalis agree on a number of other major matters, including the retaining of an appointed state superintendent of schools rather than a return to an elected one.

Both back laws to lessen the burden on business, including some changes in tax laws to slow the flow of firms to other states and to encourage out-of-state companies to come to Illinois.

Both see a need for reducing the high cost of public aid. Bakalis claims Thompson is not doing enough to weed out welfare cheaters. But Thompson replies that much has been accomplished in this area in the last 20 months and that relief costs are beginning to stabilize.

Thompson, the Democratic candidate for attorney general, has blasted incumbent William Scott for appointing numerous part-time legal assistants.

Troy's law firm, however, has been under contract to Comptroller Michael Bakalis for part-time legal services.

The firm, Snider and Troy, was paid $13,789 during the fiscal year which ended June 30. The contract, which was not renewed this fiscal year, called for the firm to be paid at the rate of $50 per hour.

Although the work apparently was done by Jim Snider, Troy benefits financially from the arrangement as a partner in the firm.

The contract called for the firm to provide legal services, opinions, research, investigations and other services.

Bakalis, the Democratic candidate for governor, also has other full-time lawyers in the comptroller's staff.

Troy says Scott has 360 part-time special assistants

JAMES R. THOMPSON

MICHAEL J. BAKALIS

Troy, Scott differ

—more than double all of the other states combined — and he labels them "ghosts" because supposedly no one knows what they do. He says this costs taxpayers an extra $3.9 million per year.

Troy says, if elected, he will not use part-time assistants because they are inefficient and expensive. He says he will appoint a full-time assistant in each judicial district.

Scott has called Troy's position hypocritical because of his firm's part-time legal work. Scott has pointed out the firm had contracts with the city of Chicago and the Chicago Park District.

Troy said his partner does the work for the city, and he has done some work for the park district because he formerly served as the general counsel.

It's proper for certain government agencies to hire out lawyers on a part-time basis, he says, but not the attorney general's office.

He defends his firm's contract with Bakalis, for example, by saying the comptroller's work is primarily financial. It would be wrong, he said, if Bakalis hired most of the accountants on a part-time basis and other professionals on a full-time basis.

Since the primary purpose of Scott's office is to provide legal services, Troy says, attorneys should be full-time.

Bakalis making spirited race against governor

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Each of the last five Illinois governors dropped in popularity by a uniform 200,000 votes when they sought a second term, an analysis of voting records shows.

The last two governors won the office the first time by margins less than that, and subsequently were defeated for a second term.

Going back to the 1960s, here are the pluralities of incumbents seeking a second term:

Dwight Green — Won first term by 227,642 votes and won second term by 179,299, a drop of 48,343.

Otto Kerner — Won first term by 437,097 votes and won second term by 179,299, a drop of 257,798.

Richard Ogilvie — Won a first term by 127,794 votes and lost second term by 77,749, a drop of 206,543.

Dan Walker — Won first term by 77,749 votes and lost second term by 115,241, a drop of 192,835.

These statistics are interesting, we think, because of Gov. James Thompson's re-election effort.

In view of the controversy surrounding the so-called Thompson Proposition on taxes, many persons are re-evaluating the challenge Democrat Mike Bakalis is making to the governor.

Thompson is still favored to win, but it's obvious he cannot win by as large a margin as last time. In his first campaign, Thompson smashed the Illinois record by winning a plurality of 1,390,137 votes.

For all practical purposes, it is mathematically impossible for the governor to win re-election by that large a margin.

Because of a change in the Illinois constitution, the governor no longer will be elected at the same time as the president.

Since voters go to the polls in greater numbers for presidential elections, it's unlikely a governor ever will have the opportunity to receive as many votes as Thompson did last time.

In the last off-presidential election, 1974, approximately three million persons voted. In 1970 about 3.7 million voted.

The March primary produced a record low turnout, so most observers are predicting a low turnout in November, too. One candidate, for example, is predicting a turnout of 2.7 million. But it's a guess, at best, because there is no experience at electing a governor and president at different times.

There are other differences, too.

Since Thompson is serving a unique two-year term, will voters evaluate his performance any differently?

One of the reasons for the constitutional switch was to focus attention on the state races and not let them be overshadowed by the presidential contest. Does the focus on the governor's race help or hinder the incumbent?

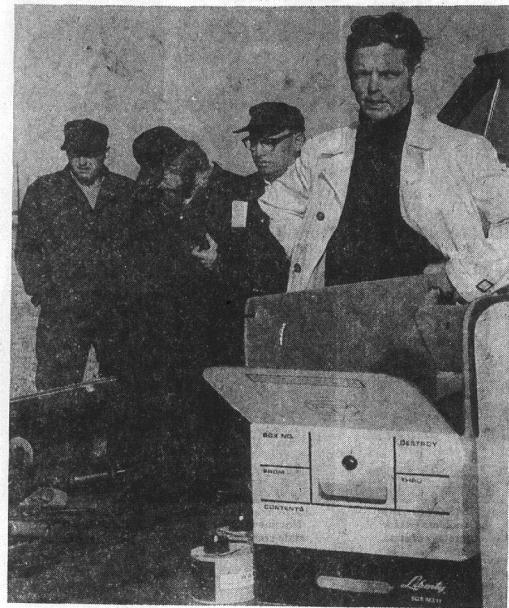

By any standard, too, Bakalis is conducting a much better campaign than Thompson's last opponent, Mike Howlett.

Thus, most observers think this campaign will revert to the close gubernatorial races which have been traditional in Illinois politics.

Many political observers are convinced having the Thompson Proposition on the ballot will substantially increase voter turnout. We aren't convinced that will occur at all, but the vote on Proposition 13 in California did produce some interesting statistics.

The total number of persons voting for California gubernatorial candidates was 5.8 million. The total number voting on Proposition 13 was 6.8 million. To be exact, 752,294 fewer cast a ballot for governor.

Obviously, having Proposition 13 on the ballot substantially increased turnout in California.

SPECIAL WEAPONS and their use was the topic of a weekend seminar presented by J. "Skip" Bennett of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, right, at the request of the Madison County Sheriff's Department. A total of 71 officers from eight departments participated in the seminar, including representatives of the Belleville Police Department's special weapons and tactical police unit. Tear gas, automatic weapons, high-powered rifles, body armor, machine guns and riot guns were demonstrated and explained. The seminar was held at the county's Nike base facility. From left are Sgt. Fred Rutz, Detective John Lindsey and Investigator James Goodwin, all of the Belleville tactical unit, and Bennett.

Attend English teachers meet

Mrs. Helen Cook and Helen Velloff, members of the Granite City High School South English faculty, attended the annual meeting of the Illinois Association of Teachers of English last week at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare in Chicago. Theme of this year's convention was "Inroads and Byways to Communication." The keynote speaker was James E. Miller Jr., professor of English at the University of Chicago and 1970 president of the National Council of Teachers of English. Helen Velloff, who assisted in the planning and implementation of the Ethnic World Literature course in the Granite City school district, was a main speaker at one of the group sessions. Her topic was "Knowing Ourselves: Ethnic Backgrounds."

She emphasized the variety of traditions and cultures to be found in our area. The students in her three Ethnic literature classes this semester to represent at least 16 different ethnic groups. For the fifth consecutive year, the students in Helen Velloff's and Mrs. Wendy Kambarian's classes at South will organize an ethnic banquet at which numerous foreign dishes will be featured.

COMING NOVEMBER 12—MO BANDY

North marching band at McKendree College

The Granite City High School North "Marching Band From Steeler Land" will make a guest appearance Saturday during Homecoming ceremonies including parade and half-time at the McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill.

This marks the third year for the Steeler Band to participate in McKendree's Homecoming, both in parade and special presentation of their exhibition marching and precision drill half-time show.

The Steeler Marching Band, under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, will travel to Lebanon, Saturday morning, accompanied by parents representing the Granite City High School North Band Parents Association as chaperones.

The homecoming parade will begin at 10:30 a.m., and follow a route through Lebanon, winding its way through the community and the downtown area and ending back at the campus of McKendree College. Parade marshal for this year's festivities will be U.S. Senator Charles Percy.

After the parade, the band will have lunch in the Student Union, tour the campus, and make its half-time show presentation at 1:30. During the presentation, the winning floats and the introduction of the Homecoming Court will be made for the audience.

McKendree College does not have a football team, so the soccer field is marked with football field dimensions for use by the bandmen to achieve marching accuracy.

The Marching Band from Steeler Land is under the direction of Field Conductors Barbara Miller and Janet Adams, with the Steel City Belles Pom Pom Squad under the direction of Karen Hatcher and Laurie Webb, assisted by Marilyn Szczepek, the North Guard Flags under the direction of Suzanne Atkinson and Susan Simmers, the North Guard Rifles under the direction of Lisa Henderson, and the Marching Percussion under the direction of Karol Gargac.

"This is the finest show we have presented to date, so we are hopeful that the weather will be ideal. This field is a natural amphitheatre with tremendous acoustics, so I know the band will have a definite advantage in performance," Todoroff said.

Since this change will be made prior to the Christmas mailing period, postal customers that shop early for Christmas cards should be sure that the cards meet this minimum size. Those which do not will be nonmailable, the postmasters said.

In addition, mailers who deposit items which exceed certain limits will be subject to a surcharge yet to be determined by the Postal Rate Commission. The postal service is expected to implement the surcharge early next year.

First-class mail weighing one ounce or less and single-piece third-class mail weighing two ounces or less will be surcharged if the height exceeds 6 1/2 inches, the length exceeds 11 1/2 inches, the item is more than 1/4 inch thick, or if the length is less than 13 times or more than 2.5 times the height.

Time for gardening equipment clean-up

By CHRIS DOLI, Area Gardening Adviser

The gardening season is about over and your garden equipment should be cleaned and winterized after the final use. Proper care will extend the life of the equipment, and gardening will be easier next spring with clean, sharp tools and easy-to-start engines.

Hand tools should be cleaned so that they are free of dirt and rust. A putty knife and wire brush are good tools for this.

Cut all exposed tool metal with oil for protection against moisture. Then store in a dry, sheltered area.

Gasoline engines on your power equipment need special care. After the last use of the season, drain the gasoline from both the tank and the carburetor.

The easiest way to drain the carburetor is to drain the tank; then, let the engine run long enough to drain the carburetor. Drain the oil from the crankcase and refill with clean oil. Grease and oil all fittings. Remove the sparkplug and add a few drops of oil in the hole. Turn the flywheel or crankshaft a few times to distribute the oil and grease on all surfaces. These procedures will protect all parts from wintertime corrosion.

Sprayers should be washed and dried thoroughly. Make sure all hoses, pipes, and valves are drained. They coat all moving parts with oil before storing in a dry location.

A final step in preparing equipment for next year's gardening is to make all needed repairs now. You will then be ready for the first nice day of spring.

Wood stoves are efficient

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT, Area Horticulture Adviser

Energy experts report that some wood burning stoves are four times more efficient than fireplaces.

When wood is burning, a majority of the heat comes from the combustion of volatile gases. Fireplaces are less efficient because they do not retain these gases long enough. Chimneys directly above the fireplace create an air flow upward that removes some of these gases before they can burn.

If you go to bed with the damper partly open because embers remain, the continuous air flow up the chimney may remove more heat from your house than the fire has produced for your benefit.

While wood-burning stoves can be very efficient, some have more emphasis on style than efficiency.

Before buying a stove, consider the cost of installation and how the stove will be used. It can be used for regularly heating the entire house or just one or two rooms.

It can also be used for conversation or for occasional use in a power outage.

Whatever your needs, local stove dealers will have a style and size to meet your needs.

ITR freight cars derail at Hartford

Eight cars of a westbound Illinois Terminal freight train derailed Thursday afternoon near a Shell Oil refinery facility at Hartford. Cause of the derailment has not been determined.

Two of the derailed cars carried pulp wood. The others were empty.

Two tank cars carrying propane gas did not derail, but were moved from the scene as a safety measure, Illinois State Police reported.

There were no injuries or need to evacuate the area, police said.

The cars tipped over striking utility poles carrying high tension lines.

Had they tipped to the opposite side of the tracks, they might have struck several pipelines that carry petroleum products from Shell to docks on the Mississippi River, a spokesman said.

Youth booked on 3 charges

Gregory Spurlock, 18, of 2133 Robert Ave., was charged with battery, criminal trespass to property and disorderly conduct at 11 p.m. Saturday.

The charges evolved from a warning given Friday night by a security guard at Burger King Drive-In, who told Spurlock not to return to the restaurant, police said.

Spurlock allegedly returned there at 10:30 p.m. Saturday and was arrested and charged with criminal trespass to property. He was released on payment of $35 cash bond.

Sidney Shedd, a security guard for Bowman Security Service, alleged Spurlock returned to Burger King once more and started to create trouble.

Police found Spurlock at Kentucky Fried Chicken and arrested him on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Later, it was alleged by Shedd that Spurlock met him on the McDonald Drive-In parking lot, grabbed his arm and made threats against him because of the previous two arrests.

Spurlock eventually was released to his parents on payment of a $70 cash bond.

State pays jobless benefits faster, saves through fewer errors; more jobs located Tightened controls over administration of the state's unemployment insurance program have resulted in savings of more than $108 million, and increased job placement by the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security (BES) has put more people to work than ever before, Governor James R. Thompson said this week.

Thompson said the savings are the result of implementation of specific recommendations from the Governor's Cost Control Task Force and other BES management initiatives.

The savings achieved are funds paid from federal and state unemployment insurance taxes which can only be used for administration of the BES or payment of unemployment insurance benefits, he added. The latest recommendations bring to 80 the total benefits, he added.

The latest recommendations bring to 80 the total number of cost control proposals implemented, with financial benefit to taxpayers estimated at more than $180 million.

"In the past 21 months, progress has been achieved in reducing waste in the Bureau while, at the same time, the quality of service to those who deserve it has been greatly improved," the governor asserted.

"A recent quality control audit performed by the Bureau indicated that erroneous unemployment payments to claimants had been reduced from the Cost Control Task Force's conservative estimate of $150 million to $46 million for an estimated saving of $104 million.

About $75 million of this amount is state unemployment insurance taxes, with the remainder representing savings to the federal treasury. Thompson attributed the reduction in waste to the following:

1. New eligibility review programs.
2. Increased training of claims adjudicators.
3. Increased evaluation of local-level BES offices.
4. Restructuring of jobs and performance standards throughout the agency.

The governor said most of the programs were begun while the Cost Control Task Force members were conducting their study, and the final Task Force recommendations closely paralleled a number of agency initiatives.

The Bureau has also acted on other recommendations to reduce costs, including staff reductions for savings of $3.9 million. Increased use of magnetic tape reporting by employers has saved $80,000 annually and data processing costs have been reduced $1.6 million per year. It was related.

The governor emphasized his belief that at the same time cost savings were being achieved, service levels have improved. In 1976, Illinois ranked 46th in the nation in paying benefits within 14 days. Currently, the state ranks fourth in the nation in getting out unemployment checks within a two-week period.

"We believe those who deserve it should receive unemployment benefits as quickly as possible," Thompson said. "However, we also will continue aggressive measures to make certain that those who don't qualify, don't get paid."

Revenue to the Unemployment Trust Fund will increase due to the Bureau's efforts in collecting delinquent taxes from employers.

In 1976, $1.8 million back taxes was collected. By year's end, an estimated $1.7 million will have been received. The other major program of the Bureau of Employment Security, the Job Service, has also shown improvement.

In the October 1977-September 1978 federal fiscal year, over 165,000 people were placed in jobs by the Job Service, up from 150,000 in 1976-77. Included in that number are increases in placement of unemployment claimants and recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Claimant job placements grew from 19,000 in 1976 to 33,000 in 1978, and AFDC recipient placements increased from 9,400 to 13,700 during the same period. Minority job placement by the Bureau has increased from 55,000 in 1976 to 84,000 in 1978.

The governor announced that in response to a Task Force recommendation to create a position of deputy administrator of employment security, Administrator C. Thomas Ross has appointed Steven M. Singer of Chicago to the post.

Singer, 31, is currently Ross' assistant and a former assistant to the regional director of the U.S. Department of Labor. He is a graduate of the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida and attended the DePaul University Graduate School. Prior to joining the Bureau, he worked for seven years at the U.S. Department of Labor. His salary will be $34,000.

Melvin R. Allen, 20, of 3420 Madison Ave., was arrested twice this week and is free on a total of $140 cash bond on four charges.

Allen first was arrested Sunday after Kimberly Durham and Holly Wade, both of 2114 Lee Ave., alleged he came to their home, argued with Miss Durham, grabbed her by the throat and threw furniture around, breaking a coffee table, a clock-radio, two statues and an end table.

He also knocked a hole in the wall and threatened Miss Durham with a broken piece of a statue, it was alleged.

Police stopped his car in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue and charged him with assault and two counts of criminal damage to property. He posted $105 cash bond and was released.

At 12:50 p.m. Monday, an officer saw two high school students get out of Allen's car at the 2200 block of Lee Avenue and investigated to find the car full of smoke, allegedly from marijuana.

Allen was searched and two marijuana cigarettes allegedly were found in his shirt pocket. He was taken back to the Granite City police station and was released on $35 bond.

Customer service for deaf provided by Illinois Bell

Illinois Bell's Teletypewriter Customer Services for the Deaf now offers most of its services 24 hours a day, seven days a week, it was announced Tuesday.

The Eichelberger who is in charge of the company's programs for the disabled explained, "By calling our toll-free number, (800) 979-0002, at any time, our deaf and speech impaired customers who use TTY's can get a number they can't find in the telephone directory, report difficulty completing a call, and arrange for telephone repairs."

"We ask that other business, such as arranging for new or changed telephone service, or questioning something on the bill, be cared for between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday."

Illinois Bell established the free TTY number in May to serve its almost 400 deaf customers who communicate over telephone lines with teletypewriters and other keyboard units.

"Our TTY service allows deaf customers to communicate directly with us and receive most of the same services as our hearing customers," Eichelberger said.

National Education Week will be Nov. 12 through 18. Members of the board are encouraging parents to stop by and visit.

One school official noted that parents and students frequently feel that the only time they go to the board office is when someone is in trouble or there is a major problem.

Mrs. Marguerite Connole, assistant curriculum director, announced that an "open house" schedule for each school will be announced shortly. A tentative schedule has been worked out, although there may be some changes.

The board authorized the ordering of cheerleader uniforms.

Board President Sam Dymas said, "I brought some of my friends from Granite City to see the cheer leaders clinic we held and I want everyone to know it was terrific. The whole thing was very impressive."

The board approved the hiring of David R. Hodges as assistant basketball coach for Madison High school, hired Maurice Hughes as custodian at Dunbar school, hired Mrs. Debra Lehrer as social worker, Marsha Jackich as math instructor at Madison High School and Frank as a substitute English teacher at MHS.

The board also approved candy sales at the junior high and MHS. Permission was given the junior class at MHS to sell donuts before school with the proceeds going toward the expenses of the Junior-Senior Prom.

The third grade class of Mrs. Lois Brazil of Harris school will visit Charlie's Restaurant from 10:40 a.m. until 12:40 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 21.

The children at that time will be studying table manners and nutrition. Charles Heister, owner of the restaurant, has also invited the 19 third graders to have lunch with him there at his restaurant.

Illinois labor is backing Democrats plus Percy, Scott

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — Despite some erosion at the top of the ticket, union labor in Illinois still retains a close alliance with the Democratic party.

This was reflected in the recent issue of the weekly news letter of the Illinois AFL-CIO listing endorsements for statewide offices, for Congress and the Illinois Legislature.

Choices were made by the organization's Committee On Political Education (COPE). COPE is composed of representatives from each of the 24 Illinois congressional districts, statewide councils of various unions, area central bodies and building trades councils, all described as "a good cross section of our Illinois AFL-CIO membership."

As in past years, endorsements for congressional and legislative races were heavily weighted in favor of the Democrats. In fact, not a single Republican candidate for Congress was endorsed. Twenty Democratic candidates received endorsements.

The AFL-CIO left "open" races in four Congressional districts endorsing neither candidate. In two of these Republican incumbents have no opposition. They are Robert H. Michel in the 18th district (Peoria area), and Tom Rallsback in the 19th, which extends from Rock Island-Moline to Calhoun County in the Mississippi-Illinois river country.

In the 16th district, including Rockford and much of Northern Illinois, moderate-liberal Republican Congressman John B. Anderson has announced he is considering becoming a candidate for president in 1980. He has congressional opposition this fall from a young unknown Democrat, William Dahlin. Anderson is considered one of the most predominantly Republican districts.

However, he had a tough primary campaign against an arch conservative, fundamentalist preacher Donald M. Lynn. Anderson won with help from a substantial Democratic crossover vote, undoubtedly including many union members in heavily industrialized areas.

In the 21st district, which includes Bloomington, Decatur, and Lincoln, the AFL-CIO made no choice between Republican incumbent Edward Madigan and Democrat Kenneth E. Baughman. Madigan, a former state representative, is in his third term in Congress.

Republicans are also shut out as far as union endorsement is concerned in the 40 races for seats in the Illinois State Senate. No Republican candidate for senate was even mentioned in the news letter. Where Democratic incumbents were not endorsed, Democratic challengers to Republicans were usually listed with the accompanying comment, "has no legislative experience, but has expressed himself as friendly."

In House races, the AFL-CIO did not want to 101 Democratic incumbents and only 17 incumbent Republicans. The organization uses a flag method to indicate its degree of support for endorsed candidates. One flag means "fair" legislative voting record, two flags mean "good," three mean "very good," and four mean "excellent."

Only three Republicans rated as high as three flags and not a single one got four, a frequent designation for Democrats. In some instances Republicans did not merit even one flag but did receive the "should be elected" designation.

It is in the races for statewide offices that the Democrats are having trouble holding labor's allegiance. The AFL-CIO endorsement of Republican Charles H. Percy was the first endorsement of a Republican senator in the organization's history. Percy also has picked up the support of other major union groups in Illinois, including the United Automobile Workers and the United Mine Workers unions.

By going for Republican incumbent Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, the AFL-CIO added further momentum to his campaign. The endorsements of Scott and Percy were additional blows to their respective Democratic opponents, Alex B. Seth and Richard J. Troy. Democrats did manage to hold onto an AFL-CIO endorsement for their gubernatorial challenger, Michael J. Bakalis, but the decision reportedly was a close one.

Thompson's relations with

Illinois unions has been good. He pleased the construction trades unions by upholding the prevailing wage scale for full-time state employees in construction and maintenance work. Critics of this practice say the prevailing wage should be limited to those workers engaged in seasonal employment.

Although missing out on AFL-CIO endorsement, Thompson has racked up some impressive endorsements from individual unions including the Teamsters, Laborers, Carpenters, Operating Engineers and Structural Iron Workers.

The value of union endorsements is increasingly debatable in this era of declining union membership in relation to the total work force. But they still have some effect, especially in heavily industrialized areas or in others where unions are strong such as the coal fields.

A union endorsement is regarded as particularly valuable to a Republican because it is so rare. Democratic candidates have come to take union endorsements for granted, something that they cannot do in the future.

Nameeki appoints administrative aid

The Nameeki Town Board of Trustees Monday night hired Bob Holder, a political science student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as administrative assistant to the township's supervisor, Harold Davis.

As administrative assistant, Holder will assist with applications for grants, the housing rehabilitation program, Community Development programs, Cloverleaf Addition and Eagle Park Acres improvements and other projects.

He fills the position vacated earlier this year by Davis' son, Mark Davis, who left for a job in private business. Holder will be paid by an hourly wage.

In other business, the board discussed a steep incline at the south edge of Route 182 where a drainage culvert recently was improved west of the Ben Livingston Oil Co. It was decided to contact the Illinois Department of Transportation to request a guardrail be placed at that location.

A letter from state health officials was read supporting the board's previous position that commercial rat poison could not be issued by the township to residents, because the township would be liable for the danger to children, dogs and other animals.

Pamphlets provided by the state to inform persons what can be done to kill rats and protect themselves from rats have been received and will be made available to those who request them, it was noted.

At the board's last meeting, Township Attorney Irvin C. Sline Jr., indicated he did not feel the township could give commercial rat poison away, without being held responsible for its use.

Bills approved for payment totaled $5,085 from the town fund, $1,290 from general assistance, $5,415 from the road and bridge fund, $5,953 from the special hard road fund, $1,333 in revenue sharing bills and $312 from the anti-recession fiscal assistance act fund.

A letter of thanks was read from the township administration to the members of Boy Scout Troop Five for their help in cleaning up Elm Slough and Long Lake to improve drainage through the township.

Continuation of the corporate personal property tax depends on Illinois voters

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Registered voters across the state are receiving a blue pamphlet in the mail explaining two proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution.

The pamphlets are being mailed by Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon in accordance with state law which requires that registered voters be notified of such proposed changes.

The referendum will be held in conjunction with the November general election. The pamphlets, though, are certain to cause some confusion, and in some cases, more bitterness toward government.

The first reaction of some persons is to complain about two copies being sent to their house when one would have been sufficient. At first glance, it appears to be another example of government waste and inefficiency.

However, state law requires that each registered voter be mailed a copy of the explanation. Thus, in many cases a husband and wife will both receive a copy, and in some cases where young adults still reside with parents three or four copies are being sent to the same household.

Perhaps that requirement of the law should be changed, but it's difficult to imagine any other system of distributing the information to work more uniformly.

The General Assembly appropriated $300,000 for printing the materials, and $1,200,000 for postage, handling and legal advertisements in newspapers.

Dixon's office obtained a bulk mailing permit so each pamphlet cost 8.4 cents to mail.

Only a small percentage of the persons receiving the pamphlet will bother to read all of it, suspect, and even fewer will understand what it means.

Although the pamphlet is well written, the subject matter is difficult to comprehend without considerable study. When most persons think of a referendum in November, they think of the so-called Thompson Proposition. That proposition, an advisory referendum calling for an unspecified limit on taxes and spending, will be on the ballot.

The controversy swirling around the Thompson Proposition has completely overshadowed the two amendments which will be voted upon.

The first proposed amendment calls for the continuation of the present personal property tax on business entities.

Prior to 1970, personal property taxes were levied by both individuals and businesses. The state constitution adopted that year established Jan. 1, 1970, as the effective date for abolishing the personal property tax for businesses. However, since that time no legislation has been approved which would provide tax dollars to replace the revenue lost by the elimination of the tax.

The business community and the political establishment have agreed the best solution to the problem is to continue the tax. And that takes a constitutional amendment.

The Illinois House approved the measure 134 to 21 and the Senate 53 to 0.

As far as we know, the only opposition to the proposal is by retail merchants groups. Retailers want the tax to end. They feel they pay a disproportionate amount of the tax because of the inventories they must maintain. Most other elements of the business community staunchly support the extension proposal.

However, there is no guarantee the amendment will be adopted, and, in fact, some tax experts think there is a good chance it will be defeated.

Experienced tax consultants and political observers think it will take a massive educational campaign to inform the voters on the subject.

If anyone plans to spend a bundle of money advertising the proposal, the plans haven't surfaced. Without advertising money, the candidates would have to talk about the issue, and that's not being done. Neither Gov. James Thompson nor Democratic challenger Michael Bakalis has discussed the issue much, and that's understandable because they don't want to be identified as asking citizens to vote "yes" on any tax.

What happens if the referendum fails?

The legislature would be obligated to find a replacement tax prior to Jan. 1. Therefore, the lawmakers have pending a bill which includes: an additional 2.5 percent income tax on corporations; a new 1.5 percent tax on partnerships, associations, estates and trusts; and 1.5 percent added tax on utilities.

The blue pamphlet also contains an explanation of a second proposed constitutional amendment concerning tax exemptions for veterans organizations.

The constitution now permits property tax exemption only for government and school property, religious property and agricultural societies' property.

The amendment provides that post homes of veterans organizations could also be exempted from property taxes.

Obviously, neither issue is likely to cause enough interest to produce a greater turnout at the polls on election day.

$25,000 LAWSUIT

Frances Fulkerson has filed a $25,000 lawsuit in Madison County Circuit Court against Schermer's Garden Shop, Inc., 12th Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, stemming from an incident Aug. 8 on the parking lot sidewalk where she fell and was injured, according to the suit.

CHUCK ROAST

can save you money at the meat counter. All chuck roasts are slightly less tender than the luxury cuts (standing rib, rolled rib, sirloin tip, etc.) but provide excellent taste when properly prepared. The secret to great chuck roast is "time". Use a heavy pot, like a Dutch Oven, with a tight-fitting cover. Dust the roast with flour, turning it in a lightly greased pot until browned, and add a small amount of water. Keep covered and cook slowly over a very low heat until tender. Add vegetables for the classic "Pot Roast."
